COMMUTERS' ANNIVERSARY

First Sausalito Ferry Steamed Over Bay 100 Years Ago Today

By JACK EISEN

On May 10, 1868, the steamer Princess began plying daily between Sausalito and San Francisco, carrying the precursors of thousands who now make less leisurely journeys across the Golden Gate Bridge.

In the beginning, the ferry service was part of a real estate promotion, and for its day it had an effect not unlike what the bridge has done for Marin in the years since its opening in 1937. It induced development.

The Princess was owned by the Sausalito Land & Ferry Co., which was organized to sell lots to persons seeking "a quiet, rural home in a lovely place."

A leading promoter of the company was Gen. Patrick Connor, a wealthy miner whose aspirations ranged much farther north than Sausalito. Earlier in 1868, he and two associates had incorporated the San Francisco & Humboldt Bay Railroad Co., intending to push its tracks to Eureka and perhaps beyond.

According to George H. Harlan Jr., writing in a farewell-to-the-ferries edition of the Sausalito News in 1941, the first day of boat operation was hot, and a few lots were sold to some of the 1,000 visiting San Franciscans who were impressed chiefly with Sausalito's cool, clear spring water.

In Sausalito, the boat docked alongside the land company's office at the foot of Princess Street, which took its name from that of the little single-ended steamer. The San Francisco terminal was at Meiggs Wharf, at the foot of Powell Street, leaving quite a walking gap for commuters headed for Kearny and Montgomery streets, then the city's major commercial thoroughfares.

Commodore Charles Harrison was skipper of the Princess. Her chief engineer was Thomas Wosser, whose grandson, Lawrence, was to be given the sentimental honor, as assistant chief engineer of the Eureka, of starting the engine on the final scheduled voyage to Sausalito the night of Feb. 28, 1941.

In those early days, the Princess hauled the groceries and other supplies for pioneer Sausalitans. According to Harlan, the boat's officers in those tranquil days were very considerate of sleepy commuters.

"If they should see a figure flying down the hillside about the time of the departure," Harlan wrote, "it was concluded that (he) was attempting to catch the boat, and the boat would courteously wait. . . ."

After 1875, when the narrow-gauge North Pacific Coast Railroad began operations as far as Tomales with a branch to San

Marin Firemen Planning To Organize Union Local

A union for firemen in Marin apparently will be formed, it was reported today.

Capt. Edward J. Parnell of the Tiburon Fire Department, one of several leaders in the move to organize a union local for firemen, said today that a meeting of fire fighters last night was attended by about 40 men from departments throughout the county.

"There appears to be enough support to form a union here," said Parnell. He predicted a charter for a local would be issued by the International Association of Firefighters, AFL-CIO.

Another meeting will be held at 7:30 today in the Pacific Gas and Electric Co. building at Third and Brooks Street, San Rafael, so that men from other shifts may attend. There are about 235 paid professional firemen in Marin, Parnell said.

The union local would be countywide, he said.

NAVY SECRETARY RESIGNATION EYED

Ignatius Blast Comes As Informal Probe Of Arnheiter's Command Dismissal Ends

I-J Special Report

WASHINGTON — A charge that the secretary of the Navy "has shown he is not fit to handle the Navy" cam today from the New York congressman whose informal hearing on the disciplining of Lt. Cmdr. Marcus A. Arnheiter of San Rafael ended yesterday.

Rep. Joseph Y. Resnick, D-N.Y., who held the hearing, and Rep. Phillip Burton, D-California Fifth District, joined in calling on Navy Secy. Paul R. Ignatius to resign.

Resnisk, who is running for a senatorial nomination in New York, charged that Ignatius denied Arnheiter the hearing to which he is entitled to protect a senior admiral who had approved the San Rafael officer's dismissal as commander of the destroyer escort Vance in Vietnamese waters.

ONE NAMED

Resnick did not name the admiral.

One admiral, however, was named by Vice Adm. T. G. W. Settle, a witness at the hearing. Settle said Vice Adm. Benedict J. Semmes, chief of naval personnel, "should be courtmartialed" for his role in the affair.

Rep. Don H. Clausen, R-First District, California, sat in with Resnick and Burton at the hearing, but did not join in the demand that Secretary Ignatius resign. However, Arnheiter reported today that Clausen "was very helpful" during the three-day hearing.

The Navy has maintained silence on the Arnheiter case and on Resnick's hearings. It did not supply witnesses for the unofficial panel and consequently the only questioning was by congressmen and Arnheiter's attorney.

RELIEVED OF COMMAND

Arnheiter, 42, was relieved of command in March 1966 after some of his junior officers complained about him. He subsequently appeared at a private hearing at Subic Bay in the Philippines, and was found guilty of 3 of 41 charges against him.

Arnheiter has claimed he could not call witnesses at that session and Resnick supports his contention that an official court of inquiry should be called.

ANOTHER STUDY

Sitting in with Resnick at Thursday's hearing were Reps. Don H. Clausen, R-Calif., and Phillip Burton, D-Calif. Burton joined Resnick in calling for a congressional probe.

Resnick said he also wants Congress to study the background of a change in duty for an officer who had come to Arnheiter's defense. He is Capt. Richard G. Alexander, 45, who, after speaking out for Arnheiter at the Pentagon, declined command of the battleship New Jersey.

Arnheiter and Alexander both have shore duty now-Arnheiter near San Francisco and Alexander in Boston.

Testimony, not given under oath due to the unofficial nature of the hearing, turned up allegations of brutality aboard the Vance before and after Arnheiter's command.

Chief Petty Officer William Young of Cincinnati described the Vance as having had the worst disciplinry record in Pearl

Stricter Antismog Bill Voted

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A majority of assemblymen are on record today as warning auto manufacturers that they will have to develop improved antismog devices on schedule if they want to sell their cars in California.

The Assembly voted 43-24 yesterday for amendments which make this year's chief antismog legislation even tougher.

But Assemblyman David Negri, D-Granada Hills, said late yesterday he will ask for a new vote in an attempt to defeat the amendments.

FEDERAL FROWNS

The bill's author urged a vote against the amendments, saying the strict language may endanger the bill's approval by the federal government. New federal legislation permits California to set tougher smog standards than national regulations, but requires final federal approval.

"I would hate to win the bill and lose the law," the author, Democratic Assemblyman John Francis Foran of San Francisco, told a reporter.

The amendment by Assemblyman James A. Hayes, R-Long Beach, removes language permitting individual car manufacturers more time to work on smog-emission devices in special cases.

Fifty-nine of the state's 80 assemblymen are coauthors of Foran's measure. A final Assembly vote on the bill was delayed until next week.

STATE EFFORTS

Foran's bill follows years of legislation which established a state vehicle smog control board expanded it last year to a State Air Resources Board and meanwhile required antismog devices

Trapped Miners Make Link Up

HOMINY FALLS, W. Va. (UPI)—Two coal miners entombed deep inside a partially flooded mine shaft crawled nearly a half-mile through 10 inches of water today to make a dramatic linkup with 13 coworkers trapped on higher ground.

Frank Davis, a foreman, and Edward Rudd, made the 45-minute journey through the 36-inch-high shaft to facilitate rescue which officials said could come at dusk.

"They had no trouble at all," said C. E. Richardson, president of the mine in which 25 men have been trapped since noon Monday.

U. S., Hanoi Agree To Monday Session

Groundwork For Formal Talks Laid

PARIS (UPI)—The United States and North Vietnam agreed today to open their formal preliminary talks on Vietnam on Monday, Cyrus Vance deputy head of the U. S. Delegation, said.

Vance made the announcement after an hour and 54 minute U.S.-Hanoi meeting devoted to such procedural matters as seating, translation and the like.

with technical matters Vance

VANCE STATEMENT

Asked if the Monday meeting would mark the start of actual negotiations and not just deal with technical matters Vance replied, "I will stick to what I have just said—the full delegation will meet Monday."

Vance said a second procedural meeting will be held tomorrow.

The United States was represented by Vance, former Deputy Defense Secretary, and by Philip Habib, Deputy Assistant Secretary of State for Far Eastern Affairs.

The North Vietnamese, who also reported the formal start of the talks on Monday, were represented by Col. Ha Van Lau, Hanoi's representative on the International Control Commission for Vietnam, and another official, Nguyen Minh By.

DID NOT ATTEND

The two chief delegates, U.S. Ambassador-at-large W. Averell Harriman and North Vietnam's former foreign minister, Xuan Thuy, did not attend since the meeting was devoted only to details of how the real talks would proceed.

There was no indication when the bedrock negotiations would start, but indications they would

EMBATTLED SAIGON

U.S. Brings Out Heavy Artillery

SAIGON (UPI)—Americans used heavy artillery for the first time today against a band of Communists holed up in a residential area on Saigon's south side today while U.S. Air Force F100 Supersabres dropped 500 pound bombs and napalm within sight of refugees driven from their homes.

The Communist drive on Saigon appeared stalled for the time being and allied troops moved into the outlying regions to battle 12,000 more Communists trying to reinforce the estimated 1,500 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese whose units have suffered staggering losses.

Allied troops used bombs and napalm against Communist units in the racetrack district west of Saigon proper but the major battle was south of the "Y" bridge where fierce fighting has raged for four days. This is the bridge over which thousands of refugees fled from their burning homes and is just two miles south of the U.S. Embassy.

U.S. Cobra helicopter gunships sprayed the Communist holdouts with machineguns today but the Communists replied with heavy antiaircraft fire which shot down one of the new craft near the Y bridge. The two crewmen aboard escaped unharmed.

About 4,000 Communists have been killed since the Viet Cong Sunday launched a nationwide offensive to coincide with opening of U.S.-North Vietnam peace talks in Paris today. Intelligence experts said 3,300 of them have been killed in and around Saigon.

In the city where 650 Communists died last night and today, allied gunners opened up with eight-inch artillery shells against Viet Cong bands harrassing the western and southern city limits.

Slogan Of Humphrey: 'The New Democracy'

COMBINED AP & UPI

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey sought support in Wyoming today for his "New Democracy" presidential campaign program, a guarantee of "first class citizenship" for all Americans.

In a speech for the state Democratic convention in Rawlins, Humphrey said, "you've all heard about the new economics. Well let me tell you that we can have a New Democracy in our country — if we plan for it now and work for it now."

The Democratic presidential hopeful said the great unresolved issue of 1968 is: "Are we going finally to build a society of full and equal opportunity for every citizen, or will the American dream be lost as our 200th anniversary of nationhood approaches."

Yesterday, the United Steel Workers Union (USW) endorsed Humphrey's presidential bid.

In other developments:

Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-New York, addressed a United Auto Workers convention in Atlantic City, acknowledging that "it is true that I have come here to ask your help." He said there was a fear among white working men that Negroes threaten their economic well-being, but the fear was groundless. "We have to teach them the truth of the great lesson of your past," he said.

Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy has made a glum assessment of his chances of besting Kennedy in Nebraska, battleground of the moment in the presidential

Campus Disturbances Anger Congress; Fund Cut Threat

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Disturbances erupted at a number of campuses around the country yesterday as Congress took action to cut off federal aid to students involved in any "serious obstruction" of college activity.

Police and college officials were faced by sit-ins, visit-ins, sleep-ins, barricaded doors and old fashioned rallies in a day marked by multiple arrests and serious charges being proferred against some participants.

At Roosevelt University in Chicago 13 students were arrested after they barricaded themselves inside a suite of university offices in the second day of unrest.

At Carbondale, Ill., five Southern Illinois University students were charged with felonies stemming from an attempt by some 500 students to take over the office of SIU President Delyte W. Morris on Wednesday.

In Washington, the House of Representatives, piqued by the outbreak of disorder on American campuses, voted to deny federal scholarship aid to students taking part in campus disorders.

The vote came on amendment to a $1 billion, two year extension of various college aid programs. As originally proposed by Rep. Otis Pike, D-N.Y., the provision would have

Sweeping Defeats For Labor Party

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson's hold on Britain's ruling Labor Party was threatened today by an unprecedented electoral rout of his party from town halls from one end of Britain to the other.

Conservatives swept Labor out of strongholds that had not known a Tory mayor for generations. In England and Wales, the Laborites were left in control of only 43 town halls out of 368, and only seven were in big cities.

GOES TROY

London went almost solidly Tory as Labor lost 16 of the 20 boroughs it held in the capital. In the provinces, Labor lost 560 seats and the Conservatives gained 570.

The voting did not affect the Labor party's 74-member majority in the House of Commons. But the party now faces the next two or three years before national elections with its grassroots machine mowed down, and many party workers cut off from local office.

Conservative leaders made predictable demands for Wilson to resign and call new national elections. On the basis of Thursday's voting the Conservatives would almost certainly win them.

REBUILDING PLANS

But as long as Wilson can hold together his majority in the House of Commons, the government is unlikely to face the voters stripped of local political authority and influence. Parliament's term runs until the spring of 1971. Sara Barker, the party's national agent, said Labor would use the time to rebuild its fortunes.

In more immediate danger may be the political fortunes of the prime minister himself. If the party can organize a palace revolution, it could make Wilson a scapegoat for the government's failures.

Leading a move for this was Cecil King, owner of the tabloid Daily Mirror which has backed Labor in the last two elections.

King, distrusted by the Labor high command as a would-be kingmaker outside the party, called today for Wilson's resignation in a front-page, signed editorial.

The polling represented the first nationwide test of political sentiment since Wilson's government was forced to devalue the pound last November.

Liberals Gain Power In Student Elections

House Backs Weekend Holiday Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has approved a bill that would give the nation four long weekends a year by moving three national holidays to Monday and creating a new one—Columbus Day—also to be observed on Monday.

Rejecting the charge that it was uprooting the nation's historic past, the House voted 218 to 83 to scrap the existing dates for Washington's Birthday, Memorial Day and Veterans Day.

Under the bill, which faces a questionable future in the Senate, Washington's Birthday would fall on the third Monday in February, Memorial Day on the last Monday in May, Columbus Day on the second Monday in October and Veterans Day on the fourth Monday in October.

The changes would take effect Jan. 1, 1971, in order to give the states time to enact conforming legislation and calendar-makers time to adjust.

UAW Backs Reuther's Threats To AFL-CIO

ATLANTIC CITY (UPI)—Walter P. Reuther has warned the AFL-CIO that unless its leaders call a meeting by Dec. 15 to consider overhauling the labor movement, he will yank his 1.6 million United Auto Workers from the giant union.

Reuther, who for two years has been feuding with AFL-CIO president George Meany, whom he accuses of failing to keep the labor federation in touch with the times, won unanimous support yesterday of his threat from 3,000 shouting, foot-stomping delegates attending the UAW's national convention.

Reuther, his voice choked with emotion, stood in Convention Hall before his union's delegates and reiterated his complaints against the policies of the 14.3 million member AFL-CIO.

"I didn't join the labor movement to sit on my fat bottom," he said. "I joined the labor movement to get on with a job for which the labor movement was organized, and that is what it is all about."

Reuther's speech and the acclamation given his stand by the delegates seemed to drive the last wedge in the split between the UAW and the AFL-CIO. Reuther has repeatedly charged that Meany's union has become so stagnant it is no longer a progressive force in American life.

The UAW is the largest single union in the AFL-CIO family.

Reuther has charged that the AFL-CIO has failed to "fulfill its rightful role and responsibility in the nation and the world" and has failed to embark on a "crusade to organize millions of unorganized workers..." The cheering delegates approved a resolution setting the Dec. 15 deadline for the special convention. The resolution authorized the UAW leaders to stop paying monthly dues to the AFL-CIO and put the estimated $1.2 million annual dues in escrow.

WEB-FOOTED CONFUSION DRAWS QUACKS

No one can play ducks and drakes with the people of Marin and get away with it.

Bird lovers — their feathers ruffled — have telephoned the Independent-Journal to point out that the mallard pictured on Page 1 Wednesday with "her" family of ducklings, was certainly no lady. "She" happened to be a very proud and colorful drake.

Former FBI Agent Flays Wiretapping

Legal wiretapping holds a threat of the "Big Brother State," candidate William W. Turner told a Mill Valley audience last night.

Turner, seeking the Democratic nomination in the Sixth Congressional District, attacked the recommendation of Republican presidential hopeful Richard Nixon that wiretapping be authorized to fight organized crime. "The use of totalitarian means leads inevitably toward the big brother state," Turner said. "Clothed with legality, wiretapping will become even more promiscuous."

Turner, a former Federal Bureau of Investigation agent, said the problem of organized crime results from neglect at the federal level. "The FBI and organized crime have flourished simultaneously. The FBI needs a complete overhaul," he said.

The solution is not a "Garrison state," Turner said, but improving techniques of law enforcement and upgrading personnel.

Nixon's talk of a lawless society is "political scaremongering," Turner said. He spoke to a group at the home of Norbert J. Greene, regional vice president of the National Association for Broadcast Employees and Technicians, an AFL-CIO union.

$112,000 Granted For School Rooms

The state Allocation Board has approved the Sausalito School District's request for $112,200 in state school building aid for portable classrooms at Bayside School.

The money will pay nearly all the district's expense in setting up the five classrooms and administrative-nursing office. The portables were installed this spring after the old Bayside School was found structurally unsafe in an inspection.

Country Club Sewer Linkup Considered

The San Rafael Sanitation District board indicated its interest in establishing a sewer assessment district in the Country Club area yesterday after receiving a report from the Marin County Health Department that there are many failing septic tank systems in the area.

William L. Desmond, director of the health department's division of environmental health, reported, "We believe there are many failures in the area. This conclusion is based on the age of the tanks and the number of recent complaints of overflowing sewage, in addition to the number of recent repair permits issued."

Board members indicated they would give early attention to annexing the area to the sanitation district, but took no further action. Desmond said his conversations with people in the Country Club area indicated they would be interested in being annexed to the San Rafael Sanitation District.

The sanitation board received from Marin County Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell a report that the district currently has $350,000 in surplus funds. It voted approval of Mitchell's suggestion that the funds be withdrawn from an inactive bank account and invested for a 90-day period.

The San Rafael Sanitation District also:

Rafael, schedules were scrupulously adhered to.

By then, the Princess had been retired and replaced by the elegant Petaluma of Saucelito (as the town was often spelled). The ferry terminal, too, had been moved to the location of today's Trade Fair, where the retired Southern Pacific steamer Berkeley occupies a slip long used by working ferries.

The middle years of ferry service to Marin are part of a series of financial deals, construction projects and operational changes too complex to be detailed here. They fill at least half a dozen railfan-oriented books published in recent years on North Bay railroading.

It is enough to record that the first ferry service from San Francisco to Point San Quentin began in 1869, and Marin's first operational railroad —the four-mile San Rafael & San Quentin —began the first combined rail-ferry service the following year.

In 1903, electric trains were introduced by the North Shore Railroad, which had taken over the Sausalito ferries. These ran over rail routes to Mill Valley, Fairfax-Manor and San Rafael. Their arrival touched off Marin's biggest land boom until the completion of the bridge.

The long, final chapter of commuter ferry service began in 1907 when all the North Bay railroads were combined into the present Northwestern Pacific, which soon consolidated all ferry operations at Sausalito. The NWP came under sole ownership of the Southern Pacific on the eve of the Great Depression, which, along with the coming of the bridge, dealt a death blow to the money-losing passenger service.

It is difficult now to visualize how bustling the Sausalito ferry terminal was in the peak-traffic years of the middle 1920s or even in the 1930s, when this writer moved as a child to San Rafael.

In addition to the four electric trains, there were steam and gas-electric-powered trains for Point Reyes Station, the Sonoma Valley, the Russian River and two daily main-line trains (one with Pullmans) to Eureka, with more frequent locals for intervening main-line points.

In the 30s before the bridge forced final abandonment, the NWP had three boats, each of which had its champions among the commuters. To the writer, the Eureka (now anchored at the state Maritime Historic Park at the foot of San Francisco's Hyde Street) was the finest, the Tamalpais the handsomest and the Cazadero the most sentimental — for it was the first in a child's memory.

That memory evoked these words in an article by this writer published in 1948 in the I-J's Marin Magazine:

"Some evening —any evening — when the cool, damp fog tumbles down the man-scarred hillside and swallows Sausalito, listen:

"Small waves lap against the wharves and breakwaters; a piercing horn blasts the stillness; from far out in the Bay comes a soft, feathering sound.

"It creeps closer. Then the noises come all at once — a hoarse whistle, the clang of a bell, the rub of wood against wood.

"The ghost of the old Cazadero has come home."

Those fortunate enough to be in Sausalito tonight: listen even more carefully. The sound will be of two boats. For the ghost of the Princess, too, is sure to pay a call to her old home port.

SCHOOLS

That section of Pike's amendment was lost while the House debated limitations more directly related to campus disturbances.

Other campuses affected:

Marquette University at Milwaukee where some 700 students rallied and marched peacefully through the near-downtown campus, the second night of demonstrations urging the Roman Catholic school to take a greater role in civil rights.

Predominantly Negro Cheyney State College in West Chester, Pa., where classes resumed for the first time since about 200 students locked themselves inside the school's administration building to call attention to a number of grievances. Officials promised they would investigate the complaints.

Columbia University in New York, where a committee of students, faculty and university officials recommended to President Grayson Kirk that trespass charges be dropped against hundreds of students who took part in the seizure of five campus buildings late last month. Milder on campus punishment was suggested.

Kirk said, however, that only a public prosecutor or a judge could dismiss the charges. A student strike continued but classes were carried out on an informal basis.

Students Set Monday Deadline On ROTC Policy

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A student group has set Monday as the deadline for San Francisco State College to discontinue the Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps program, the campus newspaper Daily Gator said yesterday.

Students for a Democratic Society told President John Summerskill that if the cancellation announcement isn't made by then, the group would feel justified in "taking direct action," the Gator reported.

In a vote taken last month, two-thirds of the ballots cast called for cancellation of the Air Force ROTC contract. The program now enrolls 29 students out of the college's 18,000 student body.

A college administration spokesman said Thursday Summerskill hadn't received the ultimatum yet.

Corte Madera Group Studies Holiday Plans

The Village Square Association of Corte Madera yesterday discussed plans for the annual Fourth of July celebration and parade and decided to enter a float, Robert D. Satterthwaite, outgoing president, said.

Tentative plans for the celebration are for a family-oriented recreational program, including the traditional fireworks.

Space Ship To Resemble Stork

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—The ideal space ship may, on re-entering the earth's atmosphere, look more like a stork than the traditionally depicted Buck Rogers rocketship.

To give the cone-shaped spacecraft maneuverability, it will "sprout" two triangular wings to be held in position above it by booms and spars, say engineers of the General Electric Re-entry Systems organization here. The wings of flexible skin material would putt out on encountering the onrushing air. The slowed-down craft could then be maneuvered to an airplane-style landing at reasonable speeds.

Nebraskans of both parties will vote Tuesday.

McCarthy said in an interview yesterday that if it were just a Kennedy-McCarthy contest he could match the New Yorker.

"If we were meeting headon," he said, "if it were just us two in the contest, I think the outcome would be 50-50. But these others who are in the race will hurt me more than him."

Also still on the ballot is President Johnson; a write-in drive in on for Humphrey.

An honorable peace settlement in Vietnam should include the right of self-determination for the South Vietnamese, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York told University of Kansas students yesterday.

He apparently was unruffled by a near collision upon his arrival. Another plane forced his aircraft out of the way while landing.

Rockefeller earlier dismissed polls that indicated former vice president Richard M. Nixon is favored to win the Republican nomination. He said convention delegates "are still in a fluid situation."

Rockefeller suggested a draft lottery and recommended establishment of a National Post-Vietnam planning Committee. He also said the voting age should be 18.

Gov. Ronald Reagan went out of his way yesterday to reiterate in more explicit terms what he has clearly said before — he doesn't want the No. 2 spot on any GOP presidential ticket, and thinks he can do more as governor of California to advance his philosophy of government.

His statement came in a press release:

"I am not seeking, am not available for and will not accept the vice presidential nomination, regardless of whom the nominee for president may be."

Reagan said he issued the release because there were questions about newspaper columns and rumors about a "deal" with Rockefeller. "There is no truth to these columns and these rumors," the California chief executive declared.

"Those who say or write differently have either been duped or are dispensing deliberate falsehoods," he said.

But the State Public Health Department sets the standards for emission of hydrocarbons and carbon monoxide, which produce smog. Under Foran's bill, the Legislature would set the standards.

On the basis of the panel's report, Foran changed his bill to allow car manufacturers the extra time to comply.

Hayes succeeded yesterday with the amendment to remove that language, calling it a "serious weakening of the bill."

Hayes' amendments "give Detroit a rung to hang their hat on" in dealing with the federal government, Foran said.

The case of Dr. Donald Churchill of Sausalito, charged with illegally prescribing narcotics and falsifying medical records, has been continued again until May 13 in San Francisco Superior Court.

A hearing on a motion to suppress evidence in the case is scheduled for 9:30 a.m. in Department 22 of the San Francisco Hall of Justice.

McGrath, Inheritance Aide, Quits

Ralph T. McGrath of Novato, one of Marin's two state inheritance tax appraisers, has resigned after less than 14 months in the job.

He told the Independent-Journal that he had resigned because the job "interferred with my real estate business, and took a great deal more time than I had anticipated. It is not a part-time job as most people think it is," he said.

His resignation leaves the county with one appraiser, Edmond C. Ward of Greenbrae, who was appointed last month by State Controller Houston I. Flournoy. Marin traditionally has had two.

Each of the part-time positions earns $12,000 to $15,000 a year in fees.

McGrath, a Republican, was appointed by Flournoy to replace Mrs. Elaine B. Guthrie of Ross, a Democrat.

Harbor before Arnheiter's arrival.

Young said Arnheiter should have "received a commendation instead of being relieved."

He added: "He made us feel like men of war with no time for boredom."

Seaman John Cicerich Jr. 29, of Mission, Tex., described conditions aboard the Vance after Arnheiter left as "unbelievable." He said ranking crew members burned others with lighted cigareets, fought among themselves, and beat up younger men. Such goings on, he said had not occurred under Arnheiter's command.

"Not all the crew liked Mr. Arnheiter," Cicerich remarked, "but the majority of the more responsible crew members thought he was doing a great job."

Resnick said he found it difficult to understand how Arnheiter's firing could have been upheld when the rear admiral who reviewed his case recommended he be restored to command.

$8 Million For Smoking Study

CHICAGO (UPI)—The American Medical Association yesterday announced six major tobacco companies have pledged $8 million to an AMA study of cigarette smoking and health.

While announcing the contribution, the AMA said that questions about the effects of smoking on health, raised by a U.S. surgeon general's report four years ago, have not yet been adequately answered.

The AMA said it is not yet known how harmful smoking may be to health or how much safer scientists could make the smoking habit.

At no time during his remarks did Dr. Gerald D. Dorman, vice president of the AMA Education and Research Foundation which received the grant money, specifically mention cancer. The surgeon general's report linked cigarette smoking and cancer.

Only Notices Posted For Closed Sessions

Two closed sessions of the West Marin School District board, of which neither was publicized except by posting notices at school and firehouse in Point Reyes Station, were held on the dismissal of a substitute teacher.

Supt. Howard F. Brose disclosed this today. The first meeting was held April 22, and the second, at which the board voted 3-2 (trustees Robert Giacomini and Bruce Daniels dissenting) to dismiss Mrs. June Tolbert, was held May 7.

be difficult came from Thuy's arrival statement that the talks are a sign of American military defeat"—an indication Hanoi might have come here determined to accept only U.S. surrender in Vietnam.

The Americans arrived just before 3 p.m. (7 a.m. PDT.) The Vietnamese officials drove up a few moments later. Both were preceded by a motorcycle escort.

A crowd of several hundred onlookers watched from behind police barriers across the street from the French foreign ministry's International Conference Center near the Arch of Triumph. Others peered out of windows of nearby buildings. There were no cheers or demonstrations.

The two delegations faced each other across a 20 by 25 foot rectangular table. The Americans sat to the left of the door under a 16th Century Gobelin tapestry from the French national treasures. The Vietnamese sat to the right of the door under the simultaneous translation booths.

The Vietnamese delegation waved and smiled to the onlookers as they arrived, and posed for photographers. The Americans strode straight in.

When the conference ended small groups of French supporters shouted "Ho Chi Minh! Ho Chi Minh!" at the Vietnamese. There also were scattered cheers for the Americans.

Republican Council Fills Two Vacancies

Edward L. Buckley of San Rafael and Robert B. Rorick of Ross were elected directors of the Marin Republican Council last night in a board meeting in the county courthouse.

Buikley replaced Howard R. Onstott of San Anselmo, who recently was named executive secretary to the State Department of Employment's advisory council. Rorick replaced Edmond C. Ward of Greenbrae, now a state inheritance tax appraiser in Marin.

Mule Shoeing Holding March To Washington

Fifteen wagons, bearing slogans such as "Jesus was a Poor Man" and "I See a New Day," were wheeled into a circle last night and it appeared until this afternoon.

Other segments of the march prepared to move out in buses from Boston, Louisville and Atlanta. Eleven busloads of "freedom bus riders" departed Knoxville, Tenn., today en route to Raleigh. They expect to reach Washington Sunday to begin erecting the architect-designed living quarters now being called "Resurrection City."

Many mules were hitched to their wagons and ready to go at Marks, but about half a dozen remained shoeless and it was taking two blacksmiths about an hour to get two mules shod. Some of the mules had to be tranquilized, and others forcibly pinned to the ground. The small forge and its hand-operated bellows fell apart several times.

The first stop of the symbolic wagon train was to be Batesville, 20 miles east of Marks.

The southern segment, about 400 persons riding in nine old buses, pulled into Atlanta from Birmingham, Ala., yesterday and visited the home of the late Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., creator of the march. About 10,000 persons attended a rally last night in the new Atlantic Civic Auditorium to hear a welcome by Mayor Ivan Allen Jr. and music by groups of entertainers. The caravan headed for Macon, Ga., today.

Kink's successor, Rev. Ralph Abernathy, told the biracial rally in Atlanta that a sniper killed "the dreamer," King, "But I'll be doggoned if they're gonna kill a dream." He said the civil rights crusade under him would continue nonviolent.

Meanwhile, in Washington, District of Columbia police patrols have been reinforced up to 20 per cent in some ghetto areas.

Public Safety Director Patrick V. Murphy said yesterday both foot and motor patrols would be reinforced by officers on overtime pay in areas with high crime rates.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., told the Senate that Congress was obliged to take nonviolent march leaders at their word, "to assist them in preserving order and to listen to their grievances and act with justice."

In the House, Rep. John Conyers, D-Mich., expressed optimism that the march would be conducted in a "traditional" American manner, that it would not be taken over by militants and that it will awaken many in and out of government to the depth of poverty in the country.

Conyers, a Negro, also said he thought the campaign "may be the beginning of the end of racism in our society."

Transplant In Houston Said Grave

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The latest in a sudden series of heart transplant patients was in satisfactory condition today in Montpellier, France, but one of the two surviving patients in Houston was reported "grave."

Doctors placed John M. Stuckwish, the third Houston transplant patient of Dr. Denton A. Cooley's surgical team, in a mechanical respirator yesterday and were on constant attendance.

Cooley said the 62-year-old hospital administrator from Alpine, Tex., had "a lot of secretions" in his lungs and called the condition "bronchitis."

But Everett C. Thomas Jr., the first of Houston's transplant patients, had three full meals, walked around his room, watched television and talked occasionally with his wife, the only visitor allowed.

The patient at Montpellier, Ellie-Joseph Reynes, received the heart of Jean-Claude Amerger, 35, a service station owner fatally injured last Friday when a tire exploded. The operation was the second in France and the 13th in the world.

A team of French doctors led by Dr. Eric Negre performed the transplant Wednesday after Amerger died at the clinic where the recipient was being treated. Negre, 53, had done transplant research for years and carried out about 200 transplants on animals.

Man Is Found Dead In Hotel

James Trapp, about 56, was found dead in his room this morning at the Fleur de France Hotel, 720 B Street, San Rafael.

The cause of his death is being investigated, the coroner's office reported, but San Rafael police said he apparently died of natural causes. He was last seen alive last evening, hotel residents said.

A native of California, he had lived in the hotel for several years. He was unemployed.

He is survived by a sister, Mae Trapp Hoover.

Las Gallinas Sewer Board Annexes Land

Las Gallinas Valley Sanitary District directors last night annexed the three and one-half acre R. N. Clayton property between Merrydale and Los Ranchitos roads.

Directors also asked engineer J. Warren Nute to get cost estimates on repairing an apparent sag in a six-inch line on Las Gallinas Avenue near Bernard Hoffman School; purchased a generator for $375 to be used to operate power tools, and set an adjourned meeting for 7:30 p.m. May 23 to discuss the future of Quail Hill development on a hill behind Northgate No. 3.

Larkspur Trustees Award Paving, Painting Work

An $8,290 bid, lowest of six submitted, was awarded to the W. K. McLellan Co. of San Rafael last night by the Larkspur School District Board for a playground paving project.

Supt. Milton S. Cohen said asphalt hardtopping will be done at the Neil Cummins School to cover a rough area about 150 by 300 feet. The area will be used for baseball, volleyball, and other exercises, he said.

The board also awarded a contract to Larry Gates, painting contractor of San Rafael, on his lowest of five bids submitted — $15,290 — to paint buildings at the Larkspur-Corte Madera School.

Both projects will start about June 1, Cohen said.

The Larkspur School District Board Also:

ATTENDANCE — Heard a report that about 95 per cent of district parents visited schools during the public schools week April 22-26.

REPORT — Heard Nancy Lubermersky and Karen Gjerde, eighth grade students at Neil Cummins School, report on a trip that 150 students made to Sacramento to study state government last Friday.

FUNDS — Was told by Cohen that the district has received $4,000 in National Defense Education Act money to be used for psychological services next year.

VACATION — Approved a summer schedule for school principals which will permit only one principal to be on vacation at a time. The others will continue working on school and summer curriculum projects.

SUMMER SCHOOL — Learned that about 500 students have signed up for the summer school session, to begin July 10 at Neil Cummins School.

IN-SERVICE — Approved a pre-school, in-service session for all teachers Sept. 3 through Sept. 6 to organize team-planning by teachers of large classes in mathematics, science, and other subjects.

CONFIDENCE — Approved attendance by Cohen at a Kettering Foundation conference in July on innovations in education. Date and place of the conference has not been determined.

SENATE BILL — Endorsed Senate Bill 502, which would continue adequate school financing through use of state revenues.

BUDGET — Took no further action last night on a 1968-69 budget, but scheduled further discussion on a preliminary budget for the next regular meeting at 8 p.m. May 23 at 20 Magnolia Avenue, Larkspur.

Inmate Gets New Attorney For Trial

Leo Estrada Robles, accused of the bludgeoning and throat slashing murder of a fellow San Quentin inmate, got a new attorney yesterday when the public defender's office refused to handle his case.

Public Defender Jerome C. Durham said his office will be involved with four other jury trials the week of June 3, when Robles is to begin his three-week trial.

Judge Harold J. Haley of Marin Superior Court appointed former District Attorney Roger P. Garety and San Rafael attorney Howard Morehouse to defend Robles, who has pleaded innocent and innocent by reason of insanity.

He continued the case until next Friday to give Garety a chance to request postponement of the trial if he feels it is necessary.

Durham told Judge Haley that he has asked the board of supervisors to increase his staff when his office moves to the new hall of justice next fall.

Ideas To Save Downtowns Told

Robert S. Garrett, community liaison specialist for the Pacific Coast area of the Federal Small Business Administration, San Francisco, spoke on downtown revitalization yesterday before the San Anselmo Chamber of Commerce.

William Franchini, chamber president, said Garrett explained how corporations can be formed and government assistance obtained for financing purchase of land or remodeling of buildings for small businesses.

Tiburon Rec Board Session Next Week

Tiburon Parks and Recreation Commission did not meet last night.

The meeting with county senior planner Walter S. Horchler on a trails plan for the Tiburon Peninsula, was scheduled for 8 p.m. next Thursday at City Hall, rather than last night, as was erroneously reported in yesterday's Independent-Journal.

Shasta Student Back To Class

REDDING (AP) — A student expelled from Shasta College for helping the Socialist Workers Party distribute leaflets on campus has been ordered readmitted.

The college trustees expelled Richard Perlman, 21, of Sherman Oaks, Feb. 21 on grounds he violated terms of disciplinary probation.

The judge labeled the action "the clearest kind of nonsense."

Perlman, who had been attending classes under a temporary court order, contended in his suit the trustees already made up their minds to expel him before they held a hearing to discuss the issues publicly.

Bloody Attu's 25th Anniversary

World War's Only Battle On U.S. Land

COMBINED AP & UPI

Twenty-five years ago tomorrow, the only land battle of World War II fought on continental American soil began — four days late.

D-Day was May 7, 1943.

The troops were ready, though scarcely impatient. They huddled in ships lying off Attu, the last misshapen blob in the necklace of ugly islands stretching from Alaska's mainland almost to the Soviet Union.

But the fog was impenetrable. Four days the men waited. Then when the troops did go over the side into the bobbing landing boats, the weather was worse than ever.

DISTURBING SIGHT

It was a strange, disturbing sight, according to Seattle Times sports editor George N. Meyers, then a sergeant-correspondent for Yank. Scrambling down the nets were tanned young men, trousers exquisitely creased, fresh from desert warfare training at Fort Ord — the 7th Infantry Division.

Attu is rock, reef and tundra, 17 miles by 40. It is so close to Asia that only an artificial zig in the international date line keeps it in the same day with San Francisco. Rain and the storms leave it eternally wet and nasty. Even in May, ice crusts the ponds at night.

What brought that ill-equipped force to the remotest tip of North America was a Japanese frustration. Eleven months earlier, in a feint toward Alaska, Japanese planes bombed Dutch Harbor. They were driven off by planes from a secret American base at Cold Bay and Umnak. Japanese troopships heading for the Alaska mainland turned back. They unloaded at Kiska and Attu.

ISLAND HOPPING

It took nearly a year of island hopping in the Aleutian chain-including unopposed landings at Adak and Amchitka — to mount the task of wresting Attu, part of the then Territory of Alaska, from enemy occupation.

In the fog of May 11, 1943, numerous amphibious-landing boats lost their escorts and hit the wrong beach. For the Yanks there really was no right beach.

Attu was an eerie spectacle. Fog swirled at the snowline on the sharply rising crags. There, invisible, hunched the Japanese, with machine guns, mortars and rifles.

Painstakingly, on the mossy bog, artillerymen set up 105mm howitzers, pounding shells blindly into the mountainsides. It was like a Matthew Brady photograph of the Civil War, Meyers recalls.

Minutes after the first wave dug itself into the tundra, white-faced GIs clustered, peering at an object on the moist earth. It was a hand, all that remained of the first American struck by a mortar shell from the mountain.

The Americans accomplished their objective after 19 days of the dirtiest, most brutal, yet least publicized fight of World War II.

HEAVY TOLL

American casualties were 549 dead, 1,148 wounded and 2,100 taken out of action by accident, disease or exposure.

Only 29 Japanese prisoners were taken. The rest of the meager force of about 2,500 were either killed or committed suicide.

"In terms of Japanese destroyed," says the official U.S. Army history, "the cost (to the Americans) of taking Attu was second only to Iwo Jima. For every 100 of the enemy on the island, about 71 Americans were killed or wounded."

The 17th and 32nd Infantry Regiments of the 7th Division bore the brunt of the invasion. They were backed up by a large naval force comprised of three battleships, a support cruiser group, the amphibious force North Pacific, numerous Navy troop ships, merchant marine vessels manned by civilian crews, countless barges, minesweepers, patrol boats and other auxiliary craft. Air support came from bases on the islands of Amchitka and Adak.

ILL-GARBED

The soldiers were prepared for the Japs but not the weather.

They were shod in black leather boots, when they should have been wearing rubber pacs. "Immersion feet" put many men out of action before they had a chance to fire a gun.

But snafus appeared to be the rule and not the exception on Attu.

The commanders told their men they would be provided a hot meal the first night ashore. Some didn't get even as much as a hot cup of coffee until the last shot had been fired.

Heavy artillery and boxes of ammunition sank useless into the sucking muskeg. Sleeping bags and shelters were stacked on the beach while the soldiers inland huddled in foxholes that filled with water as soon as the tundra was stripped away. Williwas, those notorious winds of the Aleutinas, howled down from the Arctic at more than 100 mlies an hour increasing the misery. When it wasn't raining it was foggy.

WORST BATTLE

Members of the 7th interviewed by Yank magazine later in Leyte, where they had gone after taking Attu and Kwajalein, almost to a man said Attu was the worst battle they had been in. And nearly all said the worst thing about Attu was the weather, except for one thing. It was so cold there bodies never stank.

Jack Craemer, editor and co-publisher of the Independent Journal was a lieutenant and public information officer for the Alaska Defense Command at the time of the invasion. He said it wasn't until Maj. Gen. Eugene M. Landrum, who had established the U.S. staging base at Adak, took over from Maj. Gen. Albert E. Brown, as leader of the Attu forces that the tide changed. That was the fifth night of the battle and Landrum brought in some "tired, old 4th Infantry troops" to help turn the trick.

Craemer's observations are backed up by Howard Handleman, who was an International News Service reporter on the scene. In his book, "Bridge To Victory," Handleman tells how Landrum sent his men up on the mountaintops to root out the Japanese.

'TERRIBLE TASK'

"Although I gave them a terrible task," Landrum was quoted as saying, "I believe it more kind to send them into the mountains to whip the Japs than to hold them in the valleys were Jap snipers could cut them down."

Ferreting out the enemy from their caves and foxholes in the mountains took brave men. Craemer tells of an Alaska scout, one of a group made up mostly of natives especially recruited and trained for reconnaissance work, who became impatient when the unit he was with became pinned down by a Japanese machinegunner.

"The scout simply went forward with a grenade and finished off the machinegun crew," said Craemer. "In the process, the scout took 11 machine gun bullets between the waist and knees.

"I saw him when the medics brought him back to an aid tent. He was sitting up, smoking and talking. The doctor couldn't believe his eyes."

This might have been George Mirich of Klamath Falls, Ore., whom Handleman described as a "one-man army."

SUICIDE CHARGE

On May 29, the surviving Japanese, roughly estimated at about 700 to 1,000 in number, came charging down a ridge into the Sarna Valley to kill and be killed.

Led by Col. Yasuyo Yamasaki, who had preached to them the doctrine of Kesshitai ("A unit determed to die"), and screaming, "Japanese drink blood like wine," fully half of them held grenades to their bodies and blew themselves up. The others were shot by Americans.

Only one or two of the surviving Japanese were physically or mentally sound and they did not want their families to know they had survived.

"I will become a diety with a smile in this heavy fog," said a note found on one Japanese body.

BRILLIANT RETREAT

On July 28, 1943, a force of 29,000 U.S. and 5,000 Canadian troops invaded Kiska but the only life they found on that island was three mustard colored dogs. The Japanese, in one of the most brilliant evacuations of the war, had removed 5,000 men from Kiska in 55 minutes. The night before the Allied invasion, the Japanese had boarded barges which took them to transports and the entire evacuation force had slipped by a U.S. Navy task force.

The Japanese war lords proclaimed their Aleutian operations a success. A force of about 10,000 had tied up 200,000 American troops and warships that were needed desperately elsewhere.

But if nothing else, the capture of Attu gave the U.S. commanders the idea of leapfrogging. Kiska had been bypassed to take Attu. And on July 11, 1943, Adm. Chester Nimitz suggested to Adm. William F. Halsey that Kolombangara in the Solomons be given "The Kiska treatment." That practice was continued until Japan was conquered.

BEACHHEAD TRAFFIC JAM — This was the scene on Attu in May, 1943, photographed by Independent-Journal editor and co-publisher Jack Craemer, who was then an information officer with the Alaska Defense Command. During much of the 19-day battle the infantrymen had no shelter and little hot food; supplies were log-jammed on the beach or mired in the muskeg.

New Weekly Plans To Succeed Marin Guide

Announcement that a new countywide weekly newspaper, called the Herald Tribune, will appear next week in place of the Marin Guide was carried in this's week's Marin Guide issue.

Details of the proposal were unavailable, however, as Frank Marchi, listed as editor and publisher, reportedly was in San Deigo, where he operates a dental laboratory.

Pacific Telephone Co. referred a call to the Marin Guide's Mill Valley number to a San Francisco number, where it was reported Marchi "had stayed here for awhile but has gone to San Deigo." The man answering that number said he never heard of the Marin Guide or the Herald Tribune.

The Marin Guide's Sausalito telephone has been disconnected.

The Guide, a free-distribution paper, has been published by Harry H. Johnson. Originally printed in Sausalito, it moved to out-of-county printing during a long and violent dispute with the Mailers Union and International Typographical Union. At last report it was being printed in San Jose.

The announcement said the Herald Tribune would be an amalgamation of Marin Guide, Sausalito News, Tiburon Pelican, Mill Valley Times, Corte Madera-Larkspur Times, and Ross Valley Times. The Guide for some time has been an amalgamation of the other papers listed.

The Herald Tribune, said the announcement, will carry many nationally syndicated features. "Our new computerized typesetting equipment has been installed and is truly a modern miracle," the announcement said, with no mention of location of the printing plant. The Marin Guide since it ceased to be printed in Sausalito has been produced by offset printing.

Human Rights Commission Asks Raise For Thompson

Austin J. Thompson, 25 years old and just four months on the job as executive director of Marin County's Human Rights Commission, deserves a $74-a-month riase, his commission said last night.

The commission voted unanimously to recommend that supervisors increase his salary from $840 a month to $914 a month, the salary earned by his predecessor, Gene T. Orro, before he resigned.

The recommendation of a special raise for Thompson now should be viewed as strategy, said commissioner Bella H. Aaron.

The commission will probably want to recommend a straight department head salary for the young director later on. Supervisors Tuesday voted to create a separate Department of Human Rights to serve the commission.

"It's better to ask for a step increase at this time, though," said Mrs. Aaron. "It's a matter of strategy."

The commission unanimously re-elected James Quiett as chairman and Mrs. Aaron as vice chairman of the commission.

Thompson applauded the commissions new status as a department, saying they were treated too long "as the stepchildren of the establishment."

Arthur L. Brown was absent.

Thousands Pay Final Tribute To Mrs. Wallace

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI) —Mourners by the thousands gathered in the hot sun on a cemetery hilltop overlooking nearby pastures yesterday to pay their final respects to Gov. Lurleen Burns Wallace.

Five Air National Guard jets flew overhead as graveside ceremonies began and one peeled off, leaving a symbolic empty spot in the formation.

After a eulogy by Rev. John E. Vickers and a prayer by Methodist Bishop Kenneth Goodson, eight National Guardsmen removed the red and white state flag from the casket, folded it and presented it to former Gov. George Wallace with a salute.

Straw Hat Wearer Holds Up A Bank

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A well-tailored young man wearing a straw hat held up the Marina branch of the Crocker-Citizens National Bank yesterday.

Teller June Day said he coolly scribbled a message on a deposit slip. Following instructions, she turned over $656. The thief then strolled out the front door.

If you are dreaming of a place at the end of a country road . . . with a lake, swimming, fishing, sailing . . . with tennis and riding and hiking . . . blue sky and friendly trees . . . rolling hills . . . if you want to have fun while your kids are still young, Then The Vineyard is for you. It's just off Highway 101, hardly more than an hour north of Marin. Call Frank Howard Allen and Co. now. You'll be glad you did.

Burglary Loot Found Hidden

Some of the items stolen from the home of Robert C. Sandquist at 23 Acacia Avenue, Kentfield, have been recovered, stuffed in a box under a bridge at Winship Avenue in Ross, sheriff's deputies said today.

The goods were stolen while the Sanquists were out of town from April 27 to April 30, deputies said.

Mrs. Sanquist reported her house was ransacked. The thieves drank a soft drink from her refrigerator and stole a television, jewelry, clothes and hundreds of pennies, she said.

A Russian family of three has an average income of $2,003.

U.C. Must Show Cause For Ban Of Peace Rally

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — University of California authorities who had considered banning an anti-Vietnam war rally on the Berkeley campus have been ordered by a federal judge to justify the action.

U.S. District Judge William T. Sweigert yesterday set May 16 for a hearing on an order for the university regents to show cause why they should not be enjoined from closing the Greek Theatre for the rally planned for May 17—the next day—by the Campus Draft Opposition.

Judge Sweigert acted on a suit filed for two faculty members, Charles Sellers and Richard Strohman, and a graduate student, Bruce Kirmmse, by American Civil Liberties Union attorney Marshall Krause.

Chevrolet's new Torque-Drive transmission costs just $68.65*

Stop. Go.
Stop. Go.
Stop. Go.

If you do a lot of this kind of driving (and who doesn't these days?) maybe it's time you put your foot down on clutching once and for all.

With Chevrolet's exclusive new Torque-Drive transmission, you can. At a price far lower than has ever been possible before.

Nobody else has anything quite like it at the price. And you can have it on any Camaro or Chevy II Nova 6-cylinder model (or on any 4-cylinder Nova).

Torque-Drive does away with the clutch pedal—and the conventional manual gearshift, too. All you do is flick a lever, conveniently located on the steering column, into the appropriate position on the selector quadrant: Park-R-N-Hi-1st.

To accelerate from standstill, you shift only once—from 1st to Hi. If you like, you can even start in Hi. It's just a little slower that way.

One other advantage: Torque-Drive gives you gas economy comparable to that of a manual transmission. So check it out with your Chevrolet dealer. A combination gas-money-and-foot-saver like this is just too good to pass up.

Tomales Board Passes Employee Health Plan

The Tomales Joint High School District board last night approved a health plan for district employees and said it would consider a request for teacher salary increases, according to Supt. Anthony Matulich.

The teachers asked for a dental plan costing $5.54 per month, a prepaid prescription plan costing $2.20 per month and a health plan costing $14.42 per month, all totaling $22.16 monthly. The board approved this and made the plan effective for all 21 employees of the district, Matulich said. This will cost the district $5,784 per year and necessitate an increase of three cents per $100 assessed valuation in taxes, Matulich said.

Garland Anderson, representing the teachers, asked for an increase in the pay scale. The request calls for increasing the minimum salary from the $6,336 to $6,600 and the maximum from the $11,519 to $12,690, Matulich said. If granted, this would cost the district an additional $13,153 a year, Matulich said.

The board took the request under study until its May 23 meeting.

The Tomales High School District Board Also:

VICE PRINCIPAL — Increased the salary for vice principal from $12,000 to $13,250. The position is unfilled at the present time and it was felt that the higher salary would attract better applicants, according to Matulich.

SUMMER SCHOOL — Granted Matulich permission to be director of training, research and evaluation in an experimental summer school at Emery High School in Emeryville from June 26 to Aug. 2. This will give Matulich experience in team-teaching techniques, flexible scheduling and ungraded classes which will be used at the new Tomales High School.

CANDIDATES — Heard a report that candidates night would be held May 17 at the Bodega Bay Grange, May 22 at Tomales High School and May 28 at West Marin School, all at 8 p.m., for the candidates in the June 4 unification election.

SUB-CONTRACTOR — Assigned Rheem-Dudley as the subcontractor for the structural portion of the new high school under Olsen and Baum, general contractor. The contract with Rheem-Dudley totals $83,655.

INSPECTOR — Named John Vertiak as the inspector during construction of the new high school at $800 per month.

READING — Approved spending up to $6,000 for the district's half of the $12,000 federally assisted reading program.

GRADUATION — Named trustee Joseph J. Tremari as the board representative at the June 13 commencement exercises.

Trial In GI's Death Is Set

The trial of Floyd Richard, 29-year-old San Franciscan charged with the involuntary manslaughter of Sp/4 Harry James Smiley of Novato on Dec. 22, has been set for May 27 in San Francisco Superior Court.

Richard has pleaded innocent to the charge of manslaughter as well as to a charge of marijuana possession.

Juvenile Trial Requested In Morals Case

A 20-year-old Corte Madera musician has asked that he be tried in Juvenile Court on a charge that he took unfair advantage of a 15-year-old San Rafael girl, who told police she became pregnant by him during the teen-age dance at the now-closed Irwin Street Warehouse in San Rafael.

Bradnon Donald Myhill of 24 Seminole Avenue, Corte Madera, described by deputy district attorneys as a musician, was referred to the probation office for possible certification to the minor's court. Myhill is charged with statutory rape, a felony.

The girl told police that Myhill had relations with her twice in the second floor loft of the dance hall. She is now three months pregnant, according to her mother.

Judge Peter Allen Smith ordered Myhill to return to court May 22.

Kettenhofen Names Campaign Overseer

Tom Perry, a businessman living in Ross, has been appointed campaign coordinator for Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen, seeking re-election in the Second District June 4.

Perry, of 44 Brookwood Lane, will direct Kettenhofen's Fairfax and San Anselmo headquarters, co-ordinate volunteers and arrange the supervisor's public appearances.

Bath-Taking Try Lands Five Hippies In Jail

Five San Geronimo Valley hippies landed in jail last night, just because two of them wanted a bath.

Sheriff's deputies said the two were Linda Susan Scott, 18, and Drusilla Ann Sutter, 19, both of Chicago.

Deputy Weldon Travis said he caught them scaling the eight-foot metal fence around the Woodacre Improvement Club's swimming pool.

Asked what they were doing, the girls responded that they merely wanted to bathe in the club's hot water showers. A friend had told them nobody would mind, they said.

Travis escorted the girls back to the cabin they said they were living in on Conifer Way in Woodacre.

The girls and the three men at the cabin told Travis they did not know who owned the cabin, but a friend told them that nobody would mind if they stayed there.

The girls and Richard Bruce Anthony, 25, of San Francisco; Dennis Edward Irish, 18, of 50 Merced Avenue, San Anselmo, and Kenneth James Dearborn, 22, of San Francisco, were booked at county jail on charges of trespassing.

All were to appear in Marin Municipal Court today.

Bike Safety Event Tomorrow

The bicycle safety "road-eo" to test youngsters' ability to ride in traffic was not held today as reported in yesterday's Independent-Journal, but is scheduled for 9:30 a.m. tomorrow.

The contest, which will be judged by San Rafael policemen and California Highway Patrol officers, will be held on B Street between Fourth Street and Fifth Avenue in San Rafael. Two new bicycles will be awarded as prizes.

The competition, is sponsored by radio KTIM in conjunction with their show of boats and aircraft.

Shirley Favors Halt In Bombings For Paris Talks

HONOLULU (AP) — Shirley Temple Black says she believes the United States should risk suspending all bombing of North Vietnam when preliminary peace talks get under way in Paris.

But the former child movie actress said she is "fed up with politicians who preach peace as a political philosophy. Those who call for peace at any price comfort the enemy.

"They are jackals. They yearn for votes rather than for peace."

The 40-year-old housewife who now lives in Woodside, added: "by stating our position now, we powerfully reinforce our position in the world. We hasten the beginning of real peace talks."

Mrs. Black spoke at a public affairs luncheon here yesterday.

Hub's Once-A-Year Idea Exchange Due Tomorrow

What its chairman calls "a kind of citywide letters to the editor affair for everyone" will come off in San Anselmo tomorrow when the town holds its third annual Town Meeting at Sir Francis Drake High School from 12:30 to 5:30 p.m.

William Siden will give a keynote address, "A Visitor Returns to San Anselmo," and then the Town Meeting participants will divide into smaller groups to discuss specific areas of concern. At the end of the afternoon, the meeting will reconvene to vote on recommendations from the various panels.

Last year's Town Meeting was eminently successful, from the viewpoint of citizens who attended it and said what they thought about things in San Anselmo.

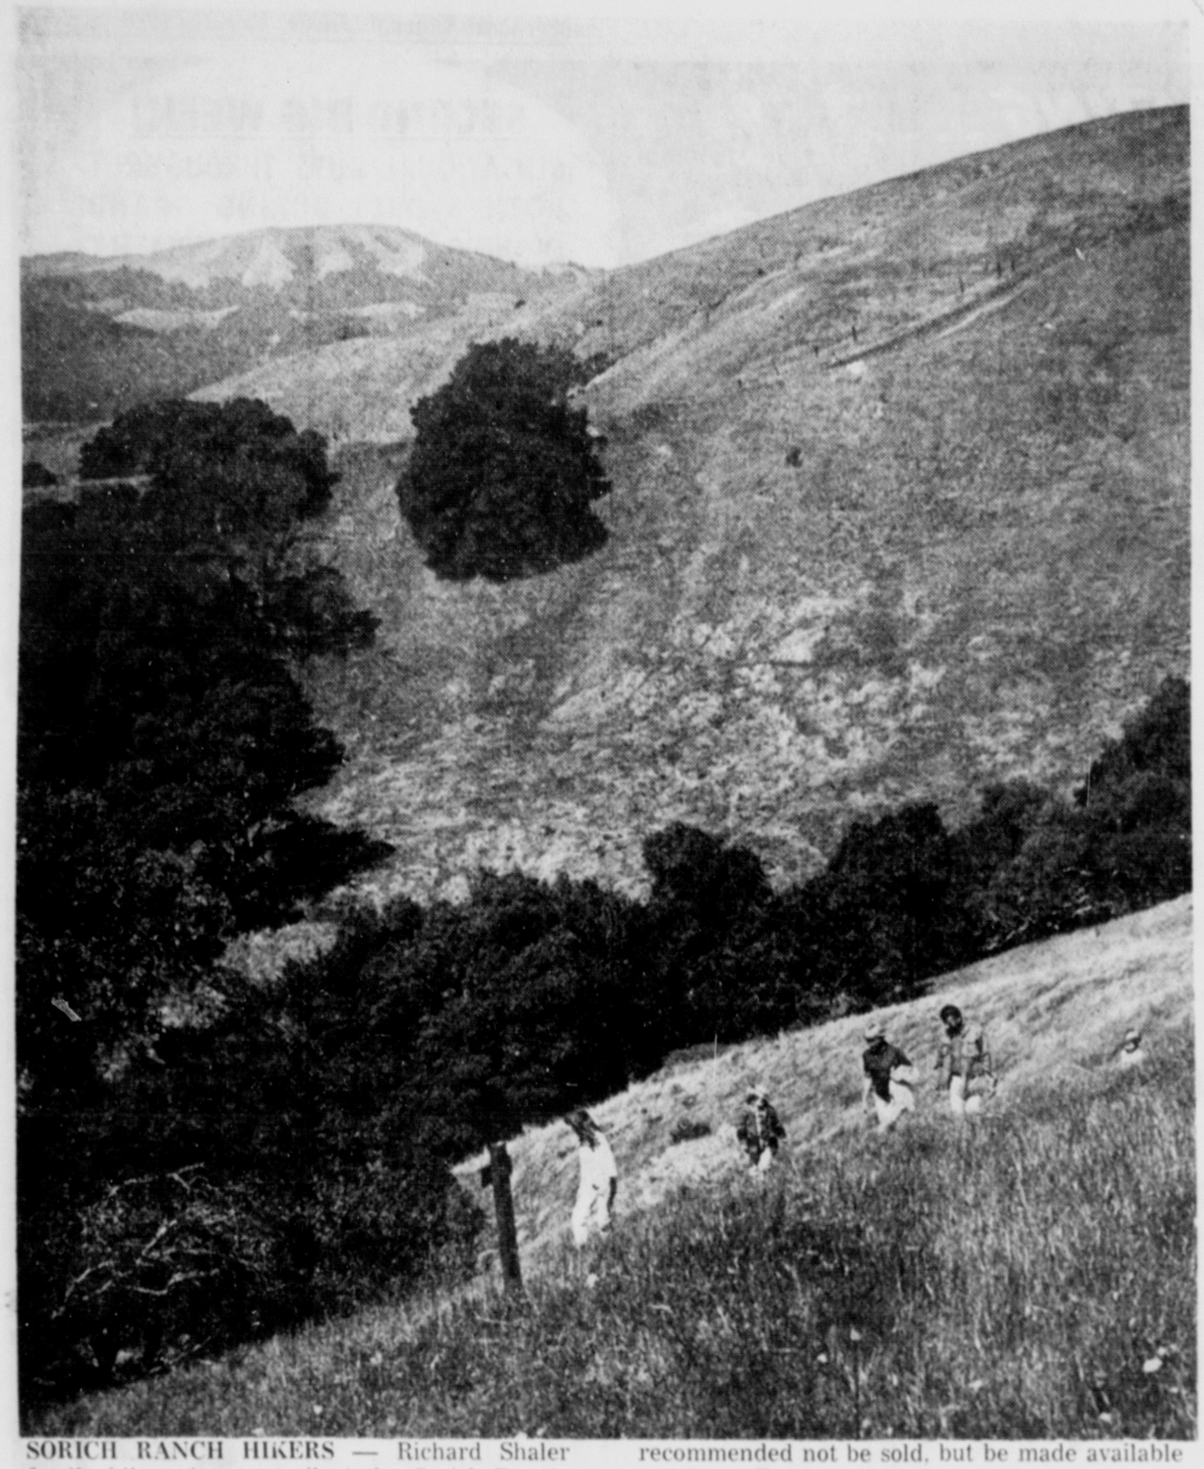
The people at last year's Town Meeting said they thought the salaries of city councilmen should be less than the $150 a month allowed by the state Legislature. The city council put a proposition to reduce salaries on the city election ballot in April. It passed overwhelmingly.

A sign ordinance recommended by last year's meeting will soon come before city council. A traffic study the citizens asked for is under way. The Sorich Ranch, which San Anselmans asked not be sold, is being readied for hikers.

"There is no other forum comparable to this available," said Dr. Surjit Singh, of San Francisco Theological Seminary, who will be its chairman. "It is a kind of citywide letters to the editor affair for everyone."

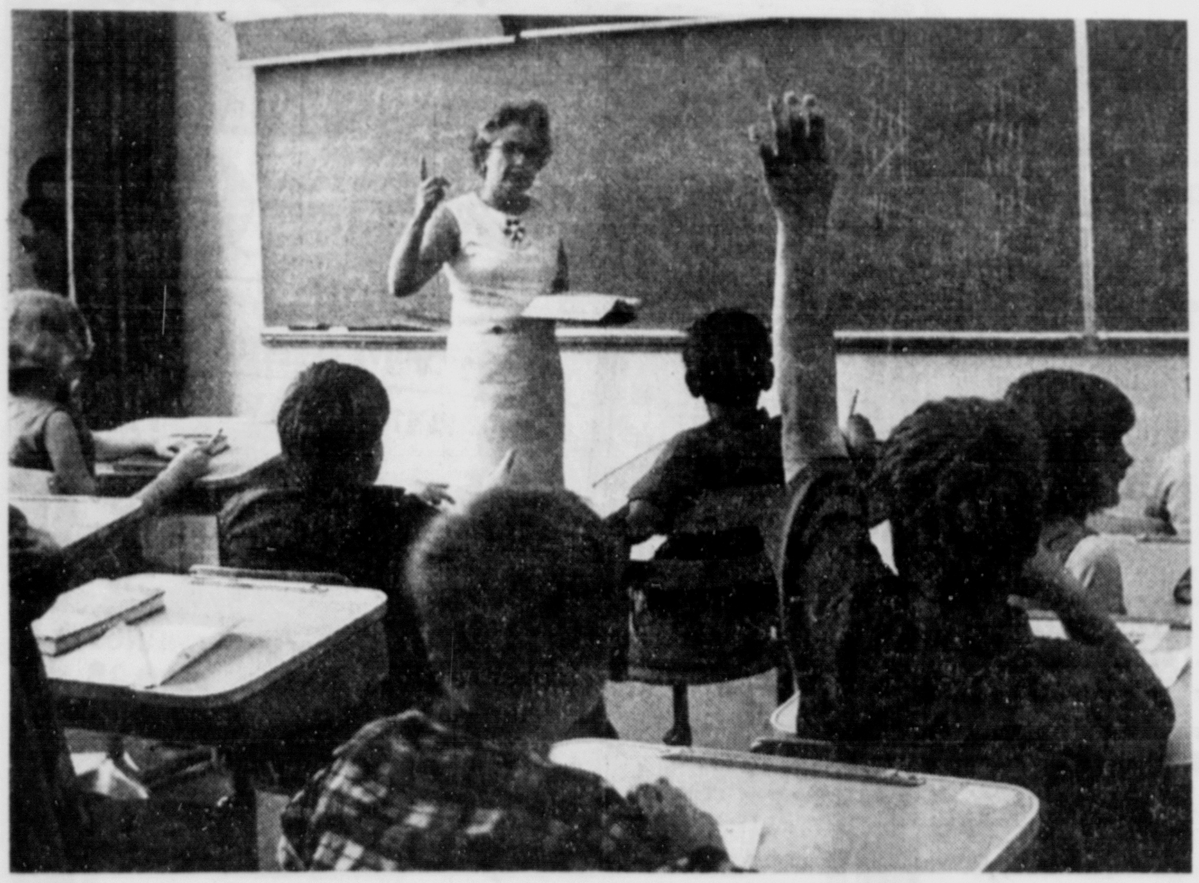
James McDonald of the Wagstaff and McDonald Co. will be vice chairman.

A civic dinner and dance will follow the Town Meeting on the grounds of the San Francisco Theological Seminary.



SORICH RANCH HIKERS — Richard Shaler family hikes along a trail at the Sorich Ranch, which last year's San Anselmo Town Meeting recommended not be sold, but be made available to hikers. Further development of the ranch will be discussed this year.

LAST YEAR'S ACTION — This traffic and streets panel at last year's meeting recommended that the city upgrade thoroughfares street by street, rather than making patchwork repairs. The city has adopted the policy.



BIG TOPIC — Schools are sure to be discussed at Saturday's meeting. These are students at the Isabel Cook School. San Anselmo resident Mary Olive will head the panel discussion on schools.

EMPTY STORES — A downtown panel group will discuss empty stores and plans to rejuvinate San Anselmo's downtown section at the meeting. Ideas to attract new businesses and more shoppers will be sought.

FANTASTIC SUCCESS!!

Tiburon's Main Street Stiff Competition For The Wharf

No asperions on Fisherman's Wharf, which certainly is a colorful part of San Francisco — but when it comes to food and waterfront scenery it's hard to beat the restaurant line-up on Main Street in Tiburon.

Some of this is self-evident. Just watch the visitors come in from Fisherman's Wharf on the Champagne Cruise any Thursday evening. They disembark by the hundreds and scatter in every direction. This year there are more of them than ever.

One restaurant that gets a substantial share of this business is the Windjammer, about as pleasant a place as you can hope to find for food, service and surroundings. If you have never paid it a visit, you have been passing up one of the county's real attractions.

The Windjammer has an unusual seating arrangement that divides the interior into functional areas without actually closing them off from the rest of the restaurant. This was accomplished principally by locating the bar in the middle, separating the dining area from the cocktail lounge. It's basically a simple arrangement, but very effective and leaves everyone with some kind of view of the water side.

There is now talk of adding an upstairs deck to the restaurant. If Tiburon keeps increasing its ability to lure more and more visitors this should soon become an accomplished fact. What a place this could be for Sunday brunches.

Meanwhile there's still room most evenings for everyone — even for groups, if you call far enough ahead of time. Saturday night is an exception, when even if you come in twos or fours a reservation is recommended.

On Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights there is the piano music of Mark Williams for your evening's entertainment. He's a most amazing young man, whom I admire for a number of reasons.

A SAN RAFAEL RESTAURANT now being sold again is Fleur de France at 720 B Street. Until about a year ago it was the Mission Inn.

Jeanne Mocho is selling out to Howard C. Caldwell, who has been in the shoe business recently (he had four stores), but he has given up this line and sold out to his partner.

Seeking to return to a field he was in earlier in Wyoming, he came in contact with William Ferrua of Davis Realty, who interested him in Fleur de France.

Howard will keep the name for the time being and the menu will see no immediate drastic change, though some Italian dishes may be added later. Lunches are served daily except Mondays from 11:30 to 2 p.m.; dinners from 5 to 10 p.m. and on Sundays from 3 to 10 p.m.

AS ON ALL SUNDAYS, the Peacock, Novato's Chinese-American restaurant, will be open for Mother's Day dinners at 2 p.m., with two specials in addition to the regular menu. Special Chinese dinner at $3.75 includes egg flower soup, sesame chicken, sweet and sour pineapple pork ribs, almond chicken chow mein, golden fried prawns and pork fried rice. The American dinner specialty will be roast prime ribs of beef for $3.95, including soup, salad, baked potato, buttered asparagus, French bread and dessert.

The Del Roses are providing corsages for all mothers. Reservations are recommended. Take-out service is available at any time.

And if you're superstitious you'll drop a penny or two in the fountain.

REGULAR MENU, too, will be served on Mother's Day at L'Europe on the San Rafael Miracle Mile from 3 to 9 p.m., with an additional prime ribs of beef complete dinner added at $5.25, including hors d'oeuvres. Reservations are recommended.

L'Europe, by the way, has a new menu featuring two additional entrees, pepper steak and lobster Newburg. Fritz Verburg has added his crepes stuffed with mushrooms as an appetizer, and his crepes L'Europe among the desserts.

FROM NOW UNTIL JUNE 30, Peacock Gap and Country Club is exhibiting the water colors of Marin's own Alfred Owles of Novato. Known nationally for his aircraft painting, he is now retired from his commercial work in such magazines as Life, Look, Colliers, Saturday Evening Post and Newsweek. He has been spending his time lately on landscapes of the California countryside.

TIBURON LODGE of Ben and Virginia Farlatti and land owner Fred Zelinski is the subject of a feature article by Ken McDonald in the May issue of Tourist Court Journal.

The Farlattis are cited for their maintenance of a successful independent motel, bar and restaurant operation in a location and at a time that were originally judged to be unfavorable for such a lodge.

SOMETHING IS BURNING at Bill and Adolph's West End Villa, San Rafael. It's not a tablecloth set afire by one of Harry Auda's flambes — nor one of Bill Bisson's.

But if it smells like scorched fabric, it's probably the wallet pocket of West End mixologist Nino Musso, who was a hot $2,500 winner the other day in a Shell Oil Co. contest. I understand he's still hanging on to it, resisting temptation. But if he starts talking again about a summer vacation in Italy — who knows? He may just take off on a spree.

NEW HOURS at the Black Forest in downtown San Rafael are from 7 a.m. to 4 p.m. Mondays through Fridays. Dinners have been discontinued for the time being.

NOW APPEARING Friday nights at the newly opened Vintage wine, beer and food club at 1740 Tiburon Boulevard, Tiburon is folk singer Peter Bowen. He plays guitar, writes most of his own material and recently was recorded by a European radio network.

MUSICAL ATTRACTION appearing tonight and tomorrow night from 9 p.m. to 2 a.m. at the Ark in Sausalito will be a group known as the Day Blindness. Breakfast show from 2 to 6 a.m. features the Boogie.

VERSATILE PIANO STYLIST Jim Parish is now appearing at the Plate of Brasse in the Sir Francis Drake Hotel, San Francisco, which serves breakfast, lunch and dinner daily. Jim's music can be enjoyed Sundays and Fridays from 6 to midnight.

MOTHER'S DAY DINNER at Jean's Kitchen in Ross won't be on Mother's Day — but tomorrow. Jean Dobson is having a private reception at the restaurant on Sunday, so she's setting up roast beef and leg of lamb dinners Saturday for mothers who may not be able to make it out on Mother's Day to celebrate.

Tenants Council Session Tonight

The newly formed Tenants Council, representing residents of public housing in Marin City, will meet at 8 p.m. today in the Manzanita Community Center.

The group will set goals and work on by-laws. Officers are Frank Phillips, chairman; Mrs. Collie Gaines, vice chairman, and Jo Ann Jackson, secretary.

Dog Problem Sparks Bel Marin Recreation

Residents of Bel Marin Keys are having the same problems with dogs that Novato has, and the residents are going to try to do something about it, according to Mrs. Joan Wrightsman, publicity chairman of the Bel Marin Keys Homeowners Association.

A petition is being circulated among the residents to ask if the homeowner association can do something about it, she said. The petition would then be given to Richard D. Roberts, president of the association, who could call a special meeting to deal with the problem, Mrs. Wrightsman said.

Creator Of Little Orphan Annie Dies

His death yesterday from cancer came at Scripps Memorial Hospital here after an illness of several months. He worked at his drawing table on the strip millions read until three days before his death.

Annie was born in 1924 and for the next 44 years the curly haired heroine faced a long list of exotic villains but remained the same age—about 12. Gray called it the "age of innocence."

Spokesmen for the Chicago Tribune's News and cartoon syndicate in New York city said, "Little Orphan Annie will continue." A team of cartoonists probably will take over Gray's strip.

12 WEEKS AHEAD

At the time of his death, the comic strip was 12 weeks ahead of its Sunday publication and about six weeks ahead of its daily schedules.

Gray peopled Annie's world with a variety of evil villains who strove to do her in. They included Candy Cane, The Dutchess, Dr. Le Quaque and Ma Licious. Nearly all met violent ends.

Annie and her faithful dog Sandy were rescued from their predicaments by Punjab and The Asp — servants of Daddy Warbucks, and a variety of other friends including Pete Moss, Seaweed Sue, Dandy Dan and his friend Simple Sampson.

Annie expressed Gray's belief that all Americans should act with honor, probity, independence of thought, industry and traditional pioneering virtues. He frequently championed the cause of the American Indian in the strip.

GRAY INNOVATION

A Gray innovation was the quotation carried in the first panel of the Sunday version of the strip to which he would append an observation of his own to relate the thought to contemporary times.

Born in Kankakee, Ill., Gray joined the staff of the Chicago Tribune as an artist in 1917 at the age of 23. He is survived by his second wife, the former Winifred Frost, whom he married in 1929. His first wife died in 1925.

Services will be Saturday in Chicago.

Students At Stanford Win Demands

STANFORD (AP)—The Stanford University administration has agreed to the two main demands of students who staged a three-day sit-in at a major administration building.

During occupation of the old Student Union, which now houses the students' admissions office and registrar's office, dissidents insisted that:

1. The university set aside suspensions proposed for seven students who demonstrated against Central Intelligence Agency recruiting last Nov. 1.

2. Amnesty be provided for all students taking part in the sit-in.

To both of these President Wallace Sterling and provost Richard Lyman agreed in a joint statement last night.

The two chief administrators also agreed to increased student participation in rule-making and judicial matters on the campus.

These changes were described by Prof. Hubert Marshall as "a major step toward community government."

In Fair Condition

After 40 Years Ross To Heat Town Hall

Over the objections of one councilman, who said he was "violently opposed" to the idea, the Ross Town Council last night decided it is time to do something about heating the town hall. It was built in 1928.

Mayor Frederick S. Allen stated the case for something more than the ancient electric heater in one corner of the council meeting room.

"It's either too hot or it's too cold in here," said Mayor Allen. "To get it warm in here in the winter, you have to turn on the electric heater 24 hours before the meeting. Then the place is so hot you can't stand it.

"In the winter, the dampness in here is appalling."

"I am violently opposed to spending the money," said Councilman W. James Dawson. "I have no sympathy with people who have to work in the cold. One of the characteristics of man is his ability to adjust to the cold."

The council out voted Dawson, 3-1, on a motion to spend $1,000 to put some heat in the town hall. It deferred action on a $500 expenditure for new lights, although Mayor Allen complained, "After three hours in here with these lights in your eyes, you can't even see people in the back of the room."

The council heard from Town Engineer Philip B. Lygren a report on the town's street needs, which he estimated at about $1,743,000. He suggested that the town begin budgeting something every year on a street program.

The biggest item in Lygren's report was $1,060,000 for four laning Sir Francis Drake Boulevard through the town. He agreed with Councilman Roy Farrington Jones that the Drake widening was something to be left to the county, if it is to be done. The $25,000 yearly that Ross gets from the state gas taxes is nearly all it has to spend on streets.

But Lygren said he thought the town ought to get started on upgrading the other streets in Ross. He said nearly all of the streets in town either have inadequate paving or inadequate width for present day standards.

The Ross Town Council Also:

PEDESTRIAN — Turned over to Lygren for a report, a proposal to install pedestrian traffic controls on the traffic light at Sir Francis Drake and Bolinas Avenue. The town's consulting engineers have recommended against it, but Lygren was asked to come up with a report on the proposal and alternate suggestions.

BARN — Turned over to Town Attorney Robert Elliott complaints that a barn Walter Terry has on his property on Upper Road is a fire danger and an attractive hazard to children. Terry said he has made some suggested repairs to the barn and wants to keep it, because he likes it. Elliott will contact Terry's attorney.

GARBAGE — Heard a request from Marin Sanitary Service for a five-year extension of its garbage collecting option in Ross, and a request for a 20-cent-per-can increase in the fee. The matter will be studied by the town council, along with a suggestion from the garbage collecting firm that it be granted a long term contract.

BROWN ACT — Voted to transmit to the State Legislature its disapproval of proposed amendments to the Brown Act forbidding committees and subcommittees of municipal governing bodies from holding closed meetings.

VARIANCE — Granted to Ira H. Degenhardt a variance to extend the deck around the front of his house.

SUB-DIVIDE — Approved subdivision of the 39.9-acre Isabel K. Dibblee property on Upper Road into two parcels of 4.1 and 35.8 acres.

Innocent Plea On Burglary

Lawrence B. Cordeiro, 20, of Concord, pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court Wednesday to a charge that he burgled an Inverness home April 21.

His co-defendant, Timothy Alan Binderup, 19, of Concord, was certified to juvenile court to face the felony charge. Cordeiro is to appear for a preliminary hearing on the charge in Municipal Court June 6.

Deputies said Cordeiro and Binderup carried a television set, table, clock, scales and records away from the home of Victoria Harper on Vision Road.

Wornum Names Finances Aide

Michael Wornum, candidate for Marin County supervisor in the Third District, today announced the appointment of William A. Hamilton of Mill Valley as chairman of his finance committee.

A former city councilman, Hamilton is a real estate broker.

Stereo Stolen

A stereophonic record player and transistor radio, worth $289, were stolen during daylight yesterday from the apartment of Barbara J. Myers of 211 South Street, Sausalito, police reported. She discovered the burglary when she returned home late in the afternoon. A rear door had been forced open, police said.

Oakland Negroes Use King Policy In Merchants Boycott

OAKLAND (AP) — A Negro boycott against some white merchants in Oakland is in the tradition of the late Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., boycott leaders say.

They told a news conference yesterday the measure was decided on after the Negro community had failed to get the city administration to bring about police reforms.

Paul Cobb, one of the leaders, said there had been many instances of police brutality in Oakland's Negro community.

Being picketed and boycotted is the block-square Housewives Market. About 90 per cent of its business reportedly is with Negroes.

Because of the great percentage of Negro business, Oakland CORE Chairman Elijah Turner said, the market should be calling for police reforms.

The Negro leaders said they would continue to picket and boycott until they force the issue.

"We're ready to close down the entirety of downtown Oakland if necessary," said Alphonse Galloway.

Truax Charged On Grand Theft In District Court

OAKLAND (AP) — Thomas N. Truax, former executive of the Association of Bay Area Governments already facing federal charges of stealing a $61,000 government check, has been charged in a state court as well.

Truax, 26, has been ordered into Oakland-Piedmont Judicial District Court next Monday on two counts of grand theft, one for $61,000 and another for $399,000.

The local action will have no impact on federal prosecution, says Asst. Dist. Atty. Lowell Jensen.

"This is just a process to get him from federal to state jurisdiction," he said.

Coed Finds Out What It's Like To Be The Principal

By ANNE BARDWELL

Pretty Wendy Townsend had a busy day at school yesterday.

She soothed an irate salesman, got 40 students to the Geary Theater in San Francisco, solved a student crisis in the making, worked out next year's assignments for the social science department, held an emergency conference on the finances of the student newspaper, interviewed a prospective candidate for a school counselling job, talked to representatives of the telephone company and presided over a department chairmen's meeting.

She also managed to observe several classes and talk to students and teachers about their problems.

As acting principal of San Rafael High School, Wendy, a senior, was one of 100 students who took over administrative and teaching chores yesterday as part of Student Teaching Day.

She said she chose the job of principal because "I was a teacher last time and I wanted to see the total picture this time."

Wendy, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. Len Townsend of 400 Canal Street, San Rafael, wants to be a teacher and is thinking about combining that profession with her love of science.

Does she want to be a principal some day?

"Dr. Ellsberg sure has a lot to do . . . it's much more complex than I thought it woud be. But, I think I might like to spend more time in the classroom with the students."

According to Dr. Alan Ellsberg, principal, the other 364 days of the year, Wendy handled all the problems in a firm, sensible and sometimes very feminine manner.

For example, when confronted with students eating in the halls during lunch time — definitely an infraction of the rules — she mildly chided and then took a bite of a friend's ice cream bar.

However, when faced with students wanting to wear long pants for Bermuda Shorts Day (being held today on campus), she firmly ruled that only Bermudas could be worn.

In the age old conflict between educational experience and dollars and cents, she lent a sympathetic ear to the financial problems of the student newspaper.

Teachers asking for shorter periods and more breaks received rapt attention while she was unsparing in her criticism of student teachers who faced their classes unprepared.

Student Teaching Day, the second one this school year, was sponsored by the Quintilians, a future teachers club. Students selected for the teaching posts had to have a B average and had to be approved by the teacher whose class they would taie over. All were also required to have a lesson plan approved.

The students took over some 50 classes during the day and also filled the posts of the school nurse, librarian, dean of boys, psychologist and several secretaries.

Preliminary feedback from the teachers and non-teaching students indicated that all were doing pretty well. In the chemistry class, Kathy Smith and Jerry Draper were aided by films that took up part of the day. In an English class, Susan Gray caught a bug and was absent. In a history class, Fred Adams was a big hit as he lectured on the current presidential campaign.

And in band, everyone was having a ball, especially the regular teacher, Terry L. Summa, as Jerry Burnell, grinning widely, directed the band with a rhythm all his own.

"Man, that's a swinging conductor," Summa said.

Weapons-Drug Suspects Due To Enter Pleas

Two men, whom Mill Valley police say they arrested in a stolen car Wednesday, are to enter pleas today in Marin Municipal Court to charges of carrying concealed weapons and drug paraphernalia.

Carl King, 19, and John Nicholas Vesowate, 20, were arraigned in Marin Municipal Court Wednesday on the two charges. Neither man gave police a permanent address.

Officers said they saw King and Vesowate in a car parked at 393 Miller Avenue. The auto had been reported stolen April 26 in the 900 block of Ridgeway, Sausalito, by Dan K. Dippery of 320 Redwood Avenue, Corte Madera.

Both men were carrying hypodermic needles and each had a sheath knife, police said. Officers said Vesowate also carried a small quantity of an unknown tinfoil-wrapped substance, which has not yet been analyzed.

Car theft charges have not been filed.

"WELL, IT'S not so hard and it keeps you busy . . . and it's fun." Pre-kindergarteners at the Tamalpais Nursery School in Mill Valley are rushing to finish their work in time for Mothers Day Sunday. Needles Click For Mom's Day

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Sixteen mothers in Southern Marin will be delighted with, and possible a bit startled at, the gifts they are going to receive for Mother's Say Sunday.

The gifts will be pot holders knitted for them by their little daughters, who are making them in the pre-kindergarten group of the Tamapais Nursery School in Mill Valley.

The pot holders are likely to rival the Biblical Joseph's coat of many colors, for the little girls use one color until they tire of it or another strikes their fancy, and switch abruptly to the new color.

There are boys too in the group, but they are kept busy with more muscular activities, says their teacher, Mrs. Joyce Zimmerman, who thinks that some of them would like to knit too, but would be shamed by older brothers over doing something sissy.

Using No. 5 needles the moppets chant a little ditty as they knit —"needle in, yarn around, finger on the end, pull through and slip it off." It is the same one to which their teacher learned to knit as a little girl.

The youngsters, who are five years old on the average, are so enthusiastic, Mrs. Zimmerman says, that even when they go on field trips, they ask how soon they can get back to their knitting.

She started the experiment with a couple of tots who showed unusually good coordination, and thought when others became interested that it would be good for their small muscle development.

As they knit they gossip like little old ladies at a sewing circle meeting, and this, Mrs. Zimmerman notices, is developing their conversational ability.

They also get to know one another's personalities very well, she says, and understand that others' feelings may differ from theirs, and they try to cheer her up if one of the group seems sad. They even make little jokes about what they have done.

The youngsters attend school on Monday, Wednesday and Friday. The average period of knitting is 20 minutes, but some knit as long as an hour. It takes about three sessions to learn the technique, Mrs. Zimmerman says.

"NEEDLE IN, yarn around, finger on the end, pull through and slip it off . . . " chant the five year olds. From left are Dianne Devereaux, Shelly Meserve and Sheri Woge.

MAKING LITTLE jokes about the things they have done is a part of the fun as pre-kindergarteners click knitting needles creating a gift for their mothers. From left, Alison Mark, Wendy Fuller, Laurie Jamieson, Dawn Kaneko, discussing Lou Beitz' work in progress.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Things Like This Shouldn't Happen In A 'Nice' Family

DEAR HELEN:

Last night a young man came to our fine home. We had never met him before. He said he would like to talk to me and my wife about our daughter, whom we've always considered a nice girl.

Well, all I can say, it's a helluva world when a 19-year-old boy comes to you and tells you that your daughter is pregnant, when you don't even know your new son-in-law-to-be's name! — UNACQUAINTED

DEAR UN:

And all I can say is, it's a helluva family life when a daughter hides the boy from her parents until they are darn near grandparents!

At least the young man has honorable intentions. So take it from there!—H.

DEAR HELEN:

You said a wife leaves tough decisions on child management to her husband so that he'd feel like the head of the household, and she wouldn't get the blame for being the abominable "no" woman.

But how about us fathers? My wife always passes the buck. When she doesn't want the kids to do certain things, she says, "Ask your father," knowing I'll veto them. So I'm the big ogre, and she's the sweet mother who would like to say "yes," but "Your father's the boss."

It comes down to this in our family. When they return from a trip, the children greet their mother with lavish hugs and kisses. I get a distant handshake. They call me sir and try to avoid me, but they confide in and extravagantly love my wife.

Wouldn't it be better if mother would say, "I vote 'no' on this proposition, but talk it over with your father."?

I'm nothing but a hatchet man in our family, and I'm sick and tired of being the — BIG "NO"

DEAR NO:

A wife who turns her husband into an all-out hatchet man deserves a husband who passes the axe right back to her. Try saying "yes" a few times and see how fast she lowers the boom. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

We are living at a temporary address, so our mail is sent to the home of my husband's parents. My husband is in the Navy Reserves. His mother is so afraid he is going to get a letter calling him to active duty that she opens all his mail.

This bothers me a great deal. I don't open mail that isn't addressed to me, and I don't think she should either. Should I say something to her in a nice way? — BOTHERED

DEAR BOTHERED:

It probably wouldn't help, and it might start a feud. If this really bothers you, why not rent a post office box? — H.

DEAR HELEN:

For 10 years my husband was a good, decent man, but only in my fantasy. That's why I closed my ears to nasty rumors and my eyes to facts. It was my imagination that kept him honest and true. Then my rose-colored glasses were smashed and my world was shattered, too.

Having pride that just won't quit, I asked him to leave. He hollers injustice. He says he's a good father, a good provider. I answer yes, but I'll trade my furs, my diamonds, even my comfortable home for a one-room hut if I could once again have that other man I loved so much. An advice for this trusting fool? — DREAMER

DEAR DREAMER:

Take your pride and broken dreams to a marriage counsellor, and ask your husband to come along. You may discover there has been injustice on both sides, and understanding is the cure. —H.

THE CAN OPENER CLAN

Is Gourmet Bachelor A Myth?

NEW YORK (AP) — If canned soups and peanut butter weren't around, many a wary bachelor would be more willing Leap Year material.

Although men's magazines feature gourmet recipes and give the impression that single men-about-town are marvelous cooks, the truth is that many top eligibles (if they can cook at all), only bother when there are dinner guests.

THE DISCOURAGED husband-hunter who can't make Quiche Lorraine can take heart, neither can most men.

An informal survey of some sophisticated single men reveals that when there's no one to feed but themselves, the canned food cupboard and frozen dinners are quick and easy answers to hunger pangs.

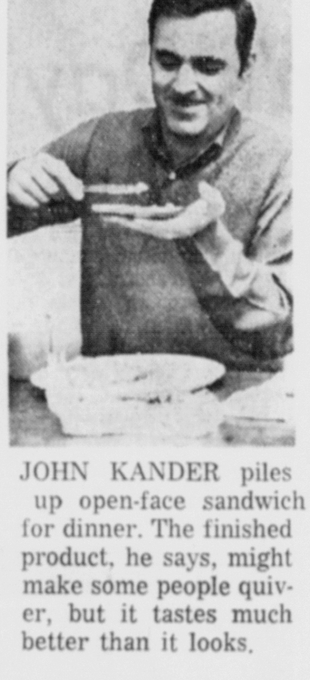
Although they will admit that a girl friend or wife to whip up a tempting meal might be preferable, they staunchly maintain that cooking with cans is not a bad second.

THE FOODS they store for nights when they are not dining out are surprisingly unexotic. Canned hearty soups, chunky peanut butter, instant mashed potatoes with canned gravy and good wine are staples with all of them. Each bachelor, however, has his own favorite easy dinner for throwing together without strain.

Morton Hunt, the tall, genial author of "The World of the Formerly Married," likes soup, a couple of slices of rye bread, sliced tomatoes with bottled dressing and a marble parfait made of canned vanilla and chocolate pudding swirled together.

"I might really cook something more elaborate," he says, "except I detest washing pots. A giant hamburger is about as much real cooking as I'll do just for myself."

Composer John Kander, who wrote the score of "Cabaret," and next season's musical "Zorba," stores lots of caviar and a whole case of vegetable juice in addition to staples and canned cat food for the neighbor's wandering feline. But his addiction is peanut butter Dagwoods, built up of plenty of peanut butter, raspberry preserves, mayonnaise, onion, cucumber, leftover steak, bits or chicken. "After that, the kind of bread doesn't matter," he grins. "It's very good. The sort of sandwich you remember all night."



LARRY BLYDEN likes canned puddings to keep him going between matinee and evening performances. He keeps several flavors stored in a tiny refrigerator in his dressing room.

MORTON HUNT heats up can of gravy to flavor his baked potato. 'I'd never marry just to get a cook," he says. "There are more important considerations than whether a woman can bake a cake."

MICHAEL CALLAN dines casually when he eats alone. Although he does use dishes, he'll sometimes snack fruit straight from the can. "Not quite what my mother taught me," he says, "but it tastes good anyhow."

JOHN KANDER piles up open-face sandwich for dinner. The finished product, he says, might make some people quiver, but it tastes much better than it looks.

LIVING ON board a boat where the electrical systems might go out and let refrigerated food spoil is a special reason Bob Mackall stocks canned foods which are easily chilled in the ocean. The suave president of a public relations firm lives aboard his 85-foot yacht "Firebird" most of the year and likes baked beans and hot dogs when he's facing the galley himself. Even as someone's dinner guest Mackall's taste runs to simple, hearty food.

"The fancy dishes you can always get in a good restaurant. But try and find yellow corn meal pancakes with a slice of baked ham anywhere," says Mackall.

The legitimate theater forces actors like Larry Blyden currently starring in "You Know I Can't Hear You When the Water's Running" to eat on the double or after midnight. According to Blyden, "You don't have to knock yourself out to eat decently."

BLYDEN LIKES omelettes with toast and coffee, and in his dressing room spoons chocolate pudding straight out of a can. A widower with two young children, he also stocks plenty of sodas, cookies, "and all those doo-dad breakfast cereals kids can't live without."

Broadway star Barry Nelson dislikes cooking just for himself, in spite of owning a microwave oven that does a baked potato in six minutes. He mixes up banana milk shakes in the blender, or puts on a frozen Mexican dinner. He is one of the few with no peanut butter in the house and he keeps canned mango, guava and vegetable juice because run-of-the-mill juices bore him.

"Sure I cook for myself, when I can't inveigle a girl friend into pampering me," says comedian Godfrey Cambridge. "Now that I've got an eye-level broiler I'll make hamburgers. Before I was too tired to stoop over."

L A CONIC ACTOR-dancer Michael Callan, who recently starred in the TV special, "Kiss Me Kate," refers to peanut butter and crackers as his "survival kit" when he's touring with a show. At home, Italian hero sandwiches, or instant mashed potatoes with canned chicken gravy appease the inner man. But he is another one who believes cooking is a bore. "It's better to know some great girls who cook," he says.

No matter how simple his solitary meal, the big-city bachelor favors a glass of wine along with it, with beer running second and milk almost out of the picture. Cheese, ice cream, cookies, canned puddings and fruit are bedtime snacks for the single man, and instant coffee is the breakfast standby.

Eggs Marked B

Eggs marked B quality usually have thinner whites than do the ones graded AA or A. They are satisfactory for general cooking and nutritionally are as good as higher quality eggs.

ON THE AGENDA

Northgate Group Plans Market Day, 'An Irish Country Fair'

The Northgate Group of the Marin Art and Garden Center in Ross will have a bonny Irish Market Day on Wednesday. The theme, "An Irish Country Fair," will set the pace for the day's activities from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Members will be dressed in festive green and white outfits and will staff gaily decorated booths sporting Irish names for the annual Market Day at the center.

During Northgate's "happy Irish happening," the sewing center will be known as the Peddler's Pack. Take-a-chance will be called the Irish Sweepstakes. The plants and bonsai section will have a Shamrock Center sign. From the Gaelic Goodies booth will come the home baked pasteries, and the hot dog and chili stand will be known as Paddy's Pig.

In addition, booths will sell home-made strawberry ice cream and Irish soda bread. Fresh fruits, vegetables and flowers will be stocked. And guests will also find gifts for children, jewelry, hats and a gourmet booth. In addition, there will be a white elephant sale and a silent auction.

Lunch with an Irish touch will be available at the Northgate building starting at 11 a.m. And booths serving coffee, soft drinks, hot dogs and cakes will be open all day for those who wish to snack at their pleasure.

In addition to the Market Day activities at the Northgate area of the center, the Northgate Antique Shop will be open as well as the Decorations Guild showroom and the Frances Young Art Gallery.

Chairmen for the Irish Country Fair are Mrs. Melvin Duncan of San Anselmo and Mrs. Edgar J. Garbarini of Ross. Publicity chairman is Mrs. Evan Goldenberg of Ross.

ACTOR AND director Jack Aranson will be the speaker at the annual president's luncheon of the Woman's Auxiliary to the Marin Medical Society Tuesday at the Meadow Club.

JACK ARANSON

Aranson, who trained at the Old Vic Theater in England and was a member of Anew McMaster's Shakespeare Company in Ireland, came to the Bay Area and formed his own company, first in Sausalito and now in San Francisco. He is especially noted for his production of "The World of Dylan Thomas," in which he plays the part of the late Welsh poet in the one-man drama.

During the luncheon meeting, which will begin at 11 a.m., new officers will be installed, Mesdames Paul Sather, president; Richard Schneider, president-elect; Walter Strouss, first vice president; Darrell Smith, second vice president; Burt Richardson, secretary; and Michael Scholl, treasurer.

Mrs. Robert J. Douds of Bakersfield, state president of the Woman's Auxiliary to the California Medical Association, will be a special guest.

MRS. CATHERINE SADLER of Loma Verde School, Mrs. Cathy Sternberg of Pacheco School and Mrs. Bernice Hicks of Olive School will be honored at a dinner at the Officers Club at Hamilton Air Force Base tonight at 6:30. The Novato Teachers Association is honoring the three teachers, who will be retiring from the Novato Unified School District.

MARIN COUNTY registered nurses Katherine Keppel of Mill Valley and Juliette Quinn of San Anselmo will join California Nurses' Association president Helen Hancock and delegation to attend the American Nurses' Association convention in Dallas. The convention begins Sunday.

AT THE GENERAL meeting of the Ross Volunteer Service, Charles Pedrick, Ross Hospital's only male volunteer, was awarded a 500 hour service pin. Mr. Pedrick, who is retired, devotes much time visiting with the men on the tuberculosis terrace at the hospital, and he frames the paintings that have been donated to the Volunteer's Art-a-la-Cart service.

Dr. John C. Siemens, Ross Hospital administrator, also presented hour awards: 100 hours — Mesdames Earl Frank, Carl Shapiro, Robert Thorsen, Christopher Corr, H. C. Ashley, Robert Forsyth, Earl Hunter, Anita Castor, Lorraine Stevenson and Dolores Warnhoff; 500 hours — Mesdames John Roth, Clarence Hillman, A. Wm. Malet, Irving Randall, Guy Ryerson; 1,000 hours — Mrs. Murray Williamson.

"MOTHERS TREASURES" is the theme of the Mother's Day luncheon which Daughters of the Shepherd are planning at the Shepherd of the Hills Church, Tiburon, at 12:30 p.m. tomorrow.

The women's choir and the junior choir will present a musical program. Antiques will be on display. Mrs. Leonard Peck is chiarman; Mrs. James Luther, decorations, and Mrs. John Radavich, reservations.

Women Prefer Red Candles

One manufacturer, reporting the preference, said that after the popular cherry red shade came white, moss green, pink, orange, blue and green—in that order. Blue and yellow are most popular for Mother's Day; yellow and white for Easter.

Beef, Pork Prices Rising, Fish Vegetables Plentiful

WASHINGTON (UPI) — USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service reports that weekend shoppers can make their selections from ample displays of meat and poultry and a variety of fresh vegetables and fruit in food stores and supermarkets.

Shoppers should find ample displays of pork from which to make their choices, especially roasts and in most areas bacon, smoked picnics and spareribs. Beef is in good supply with steaks and roasts in the spotlight. Broiler-fryer chickens and turkeys continue in plentiful supply.

Eggs also are in plentiful supply for weekend shoppers.

Carrots, onions, lettuce and potatoes are the most abundant vegetables. In some areas celery is plentiful. Fruits include abundant strawberries, bananas, and oranges, with grapefruit and apples joining in some areas.

IN THE WEST:

Beef and pork prices are showing a downward trend in the Northwest this week but ranging slightly higher in the Bay Area and Southern California. At Portland, Boston butts declined 2½ cents and pork shoulders 3 cents to lead pork prices lower in that area.

LAMB DECLINED as much as 2 cents in the Bay Area but sliced bacon advanced 2 to 3 cents.

Beef ribs are 2 cents higher around San Francisco. Ribs are 1 to 5 cents higher in the Los Angeles area.

Ready to cook fryers are 1½ to 2 cents higher at Los Angeles. Hens 4 to 5 pounds, however, declined 1 cent in Southern California.

Fruits and vegetables in best supply are apples, bananas, grapefruit, oranges, strawberries, artichokes, cabbage, carrots, lettuce, onions and potatoes.

BEST FISH BUYS for the West are: North Pacific halibut steaks, ocean perch fillets, sole fillets, cod fillets, rockfish, oysters, rainbow trout, canned tuna, and salmon steaks.

ROSCOE DRUMMOND

Humphrey Could Prove The Man To Unify Torn Democratic Party

It's too early to count Hubert out.

MOTION PICTURE GUIDE

The Marin Motion Picture and Television Council provides their ratings of movies currently being shown in Marin County. The council's findings are from California and National P-TA magazines and the "film report" of the Film Estimate Board of national organizations. More complete reviews may be obtained by calling the San Rafael or Mill Valley libraries.

FOR THE WHOLE FAMILY:

"Blackbeard's Ghost"—Disney — Long-dead pirate whose spirit is cursed to wander in limbo until he performs a good deed . . . fast-paced direction, good script with Peter Ustinov and Elsa Lanchester, a laugh-provoking comedy fantasy.

"Clambake"—Filmed in Florida, this gaudy comedy gives Elvis Presley eight songs.

"Russians Are Coming" — A Russian submarine goes aground off our coast . . . terror of crew is matched by panic of New Englanders . . . result is chaos, mostly hilarious and sometimes ominous . . . laugh-provoking farce.

"Taming of the Shrew"—Colorful version of Shakespeare's comedy . . . Richard Burton, Elizabeth Taylor.

ADULTS and TEENS

"In the Heat of the Night"—Sidney Poitier as the detective and Rod Steiger as the sheriff make the most of their opportunity to react to each other . . . an exciting film reflects old and new attitudes . . . absorbing but sobering mystery.

"The Professionals" — Top-flight cast, taut direction, tense action and wide open Western spaces make up a rousing adventure film . . . Mexico, 1917 . . . dialogue and situations have some raw moments.

"The Honeypot" — A witty, sophisticated comedy that turns into a murder mystery.

BORDERLINE (Some say Adults Only)

"Bonnie and Clyde" — Young man teams with pretty waitress; one grand spree. They wantonly kill and rob . . . treating armed robbery and cold-blooded murder as comedy will offend many people . . . explicit sex and sadistic violence are revolting.

"In Cold Blood" (SMA) — Frightening and absorbing adaptation of the book, this semi-documentary re-enactment of the pointless murder of the Clutter family is a grim, chilling tale.

"Waterhole Number 3" (SMA) — An irreverent, bawdy satire of great American westerns. In this distasteful film all characters are sadistic, cold-blooded killers and robbers . . . dialogue is crude.

ADULTS ONLY

"Bedazzled" — Refreshing unsettling comedy about short order cook, who sells himself to the devil and sells himself short. Impish flavor sustained by Dudley Moore, Peter Cook.

"The Graduate"—Young man returning from college becomes involved in a torried affair . . . plot becomes a tangled mess . . . absurd melodramatic ending.

"Inside Daisy Clover" — Unpleasant tale about the making of a teen-age movie star. Plot is sketchy, but gives ample indications of sordid fringe actions.

"No Way To Treat a Lady"—Tells of the efforts of a homicide detective to trap a psychotic killer before he can strangle another woman . . . showcasing the multiple talents of Rod Steiger as an impersonator . . . good acting.

"Poor Cow" (British) — Unsuccessful attempt to convey the flavor of lower class life on the fringes of the criminal world in England. Relief from the grimness provided in sometimes touching treatment of mother-child relationship.

The word lampoon came from 17th Century French students who would gather at taverns to drink and sing, and would precede each song with the cry, "Lampons," meaning "Let's drink." Since the songs usually were satirical, the word passed into the English language to characterize any strongly satirical piece of writing.

Band To Play Marinite's Composition

A symphonic band composition for 100 instruents, "Symphony Epistrophe," by Andrew Rink of Ross will be featured in the performance of the San Francisco State College symphonic band at 3 p.m. Sunday in the main auditorium at the college.

Dr. Roger Nixon of San Francisco State College has said he believes that this composition will become a part of the permanent literature for symphonic band.

Rink, who is the son of Mrs. Margaret Terrien of San Rafael and Henry W. Rink of Sunnyvale, is a graduate of San Rafael High School and was a member of the San Rafael High School and Marin Youth orchestras directed by Hugo Rinaldi. His composition, Suite in B Flat, performed by these orchestras, received a special award of $50.

His first composition for symphonic band, "Pastiche," was performed two years ago by the San Francisco State College symphonic band.

MARION LORNE
Long London career

Marin City Ballet To Dance In Festival

The group will perform "Gymnopedies" tomorrow and "Clown Alley" Sunday. Times are 8 p.m.

Marion Lorne, Stage, TV Veteran, Succumbs

NEW YORK (AP) — Marion Lorne, a veteran of the stage and movies who later gained fame as a fluttery, flustered actress on television, died yesterday at her New York apartment. She was 82.

Her most recent acting cast her in television's "Bewitched" as good natured Aunt Clara — who often put spells on people and then forgot how to remove them until the last minute.

The character was first named Cora, but it was changed to Clara so Miss Lorne could stutter it.

An actress for 50 years, Miss Lorne got into another venture, commercials, last year and also had her first movie assignment in many years — a three line part in "The Graduate."

Miss Lorne played a scatterbrain commedienne on the old Gary Moore show and in the "Mr. Peepers" series. Before that she was a reigning star on the London stage for 35 years.

Teens Discover Garrotted Man

SAN PABLO (AP)—Two teenaged girls on their way to school peeked into the cab of a pickup truck yesterday and saw the body of a man, bound with cords and garrotted with electrical wire.

He was identified as Eugene Maddox, 39, an El Sobrante appliance repairman who collected the proceeds of a chain of automatic laundries.

Officers said they could not determine immediately whether he had been robbed but that robbery was the most likely motive.

Maddox's wife had reported him missing yesterday morning.

ALMANAC

Today is Friday, May 10, the 131st day of 1968 with 235 to follow.

The moon is between the first quarter and the full phase. The morning stars are Saturn and Venus. The evening star is Jupiter.

On this day in history:

In 1865 Confederate President Jefferson Davis was captured as he fled Irwinville, Ga., and was sentenced to two years in prison.

In 1940 89 divisions of the German army invaded Belgium, Luxembourg and The Netherlands.

In 1941 Germany launched its biggest air raid to that date on London, damaging Westminster Abbey and the famed "Big Ben" clock.

In 1960 the United States' nuclear submarine, "Triton", completed an around the world voyage without surfacing.

A thought for the day: British chaplain Jeremy Taylor said, "No man ever repented that he rose from the table sober, healthful and with his wits about him."

TIME AND TIDE

Department of Commerce, United States Coast Geodetic Survey. Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden Gate):

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Any Experienced Player Knows That One Can Be Too Cautious

If it's your ambition to walk across Niagara Falls on a tightrope, you won't improve your chances by carrying a doctor on your back. As every experienced bridge player knows, there is such a thing as being too cautious.

Opening lead — ♡ J

West opened the jack of hearts, and declarer hopefully put up dummy's queen. East covered with the king, and South took the ace. To protect himself against a possible club ruff, declarer began his play by drawing three rounds of trumps. With that precaution out of the way, South thought it was safe to lead a club.

West played low, and declarer won in dummy with the queen of clubs. Now South had no convenient way to get back to his hand to make the next club lead. The defenders had time to knock out the ace of diamonds, and South lost one heart, two diamonds and the ace of clubs.

South prevented the club ruff, to be sure, but he was still down one. This was not exactly a triumph for our cautious declarer.

EARLY LEAD

South should lead a low club at the second trick before drawing even a single round of trumps. West plays low, and dummy wins with the queen. Declarer returns to his hand with the jack of spades and leads another low club.

West can take the ace of clubs and can lead another club for East to ruff, but South is not dismayed by this development. The contract is safe.

CAN WIN

The defenders can take one heart trick and can then knock out the ace of diamonds, but South draws trumps with dummy's king and then discards both losing diamonds on dummy's good clubs. Since the defenders get only one heart, one club and one ruffing trick, South makes his contract despite his apparent disregard of safety.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Pass.

The hand is not quite worth an opening bid. You have 12 points in high cards and 1 point for the doubleton, enough for an optional opening bid. In this case you decline the option because the doubleton queen of hearts is not worth two points in high cards and an additional point as a doubleton. Also, you should tend to vote against bidding a borderline hand that contains no ace and that does not include intermediate cards such as tens and nines.

The cold Labrador Current and relatively warm Gulf Stream meet in the vicinity of the Grand Banks. Air passing over the contrasting waters often produces dangerous fog, but the mingling of cold and warm currents also creates favorable conditions for plankton — a major food for fish.

Sonoma Beach Petition Planned

A conservationist group said yesterday it will circulate a petition calling for a referendum on the Sonoma County ballot in November on whether promoters of the Sea Ranch development should be required to provide public access to the ocean beach.

Charles Hinkle, chairman of the Citizens Organized to Acquire Access to State Tidelands, announced the action after the Sonoma County Board of Supervisors voted 4-1 Tuesday to deny a similar petition by the citizens group.

Hinkle also said court action against the supervisors' decision is possible if funds can be raised. A Sea Ranch spokesman said subdivision plans would proceed at once as a result of the supervisors' decision.

BEST SHOWS FOR TONIGHT

Best bets on television tonight:

KQED (9), 8:30 p.m. — "Where Are We Going?" is the first in a series of eight programs with Krishnamurti, one of the more challenging and creative men of our time. Widely known for his writings and talks in Europe, Asia and America, he has for the first time permitted his talks to be recorded on film.

KPIX (5), 9 p.m. — "The CBS Friday Night Movies" presents "Critic's Choice," a comedy about a critic whose wife turns playwright. Bob Hope and Lucille Ball star.

KRON (4), 10 p.m. — "American Profile: Somehow It Works" is an affectionate playful review of American political campaign techniques. Historic motion picture and TV films, prints, cartoons and memorabilia document campaign phenomena.

$500,000 Asked In Wednesday's Gas Explosion

SAN JOSE (AP)—A $500,000 damage suit has been filed in the massive Wednesday gas explosion that destroyed three houses and smashed windows for 10 blocks around.

The suit was filed by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Page, in whose house at 752 Emerson Court the blast occurred. The Pages had vacated it while it was being fumigated.

The Pages named as defendants the Pacific Gas & Electric Co. and the Able Exterminator Co. The suit alleged that the plastic house tent used by the exterminator kept gas fumes confined. The exterminating gas was not explosive.

The suit said natural gas leaked from a sewer system caused the blast. A refrigerator motor in the house provided the spark that ignited the gas, the fire department said.

No Action On Rezoning Lots

The Fairfax Planning Commission took no action last night on an application to rezone six lots on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard from commercial to duplex classification, deciding to discuss the matter further at the June 23 meeting.

The property, owned by James B. Johnson of Belvedere, has 205 feet of frontage on the boulevard and is about 100 feet deep.

Commissioners will not meet again until June 23 because their next regular meeting date is Memorial Day.

If you are dreaming of a place at the end of a country road . . . with a lake, swimming, fishing, sailing . . . with tennis and riding and hiking . . . blue sky and friendly trees . . . rolling hills . . . if you want to have fun while your kids are still young. Then The Vineyard is for you. It's just off Highway 101, hardly more than an hour north of Marin. Call Frank Howard Allen and Co. now. You'll be glad you did.

TV REVIEW

Griffith's Show Tops The Ratings

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The television ratings indicate that CBS-TV's Andy Griffith show was the nation's most popular regular series in the past season.

Second was the weekly series of the same network's indestructible Lucille Ball. This remarkable lady not only manages to retain her peak television popularity, but is also currently appearing with Henry Fonda in a family movie comedy that seems to be a smash hit, "Yours, Mine and Ours," about a widower with 10 children who marries a widow with eight.

NEXT FORMAT

As it happens, the format of Miss Ball's video series in the coming season calls for her to portray a widow with two children. The youngsters will be played by her real-life offspring, Lucie and Desi.

The third highest-rated series of the past season also belongs to CBS-TV, "Gomer Pyle," and fourth place is a tie among CBS-TV's "Gunsmoke" and "Family Affair" and NBC-TV's "Bonanza."

Of the top six series, four—the Andy Griffith and Lucille Ball shows, "Gunsmoke" and "Family Affair"—are Monday night attractions on CBS-TV, making it video's most potent lineup.

The seventh most popular series was the Red Skelton Show. Dean Martin's program was eighth, Jackie Gleason's ninth, and NBC-TV's Saturday night movies rounded out the top 10. "Gunsmoke," it might be noted, was set for cancellation by CBS-tv before last season began, but affiliate stations complained, got it reinstated—and the classic western had its greatest success in years in the ratings.

NO NEW ONES

Not a single new series made the top 10—or top 15. The highest-rated freshman entry, CBS-tv's "Gentle Ben," placed 19th. "Rowan and Martin's Laugh-In," NBC-TV's very hot new series, came in 21st—despite the head-on competition of "Gunsmoke" and Miss Ball, an impressive achievement.

Other strongly-rated new series included "Ironside," which finished 26th; the Carol Burnett show, which tied for 27th with "Dragnet"; "It Takes a Thief," in a tie with "Lassie" for 30th; and "The Mothers-In-Law," which placed 37th. A note of side interest to veteran television watchers is that "The Mothers-In-Law", a situation comedy,was produced by Desi Arnaz, who starred for years with Miss Ball in "I Love Lucy" when they were married. It was perhaps video's all-time popular show and was parlayed by the couple into Desilu Studios and vast wealth.

Home Is Looted

Burglary from his home of two radios, a tape recorder, camera and pre-amplifier worth $874 during daylight yesterday was reported to Mill Valley police by John Weiser of 160 Ralston Avenue. A door to his home had been forced open, police reported.

All F111A Jets Flights Canceled

NELLIS AFB (UPI) — The Air Force has grounded all flights of the F111A jet pending investigation of the latest crash of one of the controversial swing-wing bombers.

"F111A operations have been restricted pending further investigation of the May 8 accident," an Air Force spokesman said Thursday. It was indicated the curtailment would not be lengthy.

Marin Gains Citizen With Stage Talent

Christine Gotts of 87 Ethel Avenue, Mill Valley, was among the 17 Marinites naturalized last month in San Francisco at ceremonies in U. S. District Court.

When Miss Gotts, who is now secretary to the president of a wholesale liquor firm in San Francisco, was 3 years old, her mother was killed in a bombing raid in Liverpool. Her father, a Royal Air Force officer, was lost in a plane that disappeared.

Miss Gotts, who had gone to Liverpool from Portsmouth with her mother because of the war, was adopted by a relative of her father's and lived in Liverpool during her school years.

When she was 15, however, she decided to join a repertory company which did Shakespearian and other plays. "At 16 I played parts of 40-year-old women," she laughed. After a couple of years of one-night stands in English villages, Miss Gotts passed a British Broadcasting Co. audition and appeared in plays and a children's program on BBC.

"I also played gangsters' molls in two B movies," Miss Gotts said. In between her acting career engagements, she kept up her shorthand and typing by taking temporary secretarial jobs.

In 1961 she decided to come to America, and after two months with a family in Detroit, she worked as a secretary for a year in New York City. She then came to San Francisco, and two years ago moved to Mill Valley.

This year she decided to "find an outlet" with the Ross Valley Players and is assistant director for their current production, "Born Yesterday."

Other new citizens:

Novato — David Michael and Patricia Ann Herber of 525 Norman Drive and Anders Dondergaard Nielsen Rytter of 270 Felipe Way.

San Rafael — Krishna Nand Sharma of 212 Belle Avenue and Mogens Skov of 256 Mount Shasta Drive.

Taking part in what its author, Kenneth Levy of Terra Linda, termed "a musical travesty" will be Sandy Kastle, Don Cohen and Victor and Sandy Hansen. Proceeds will go to charity.

Court Order Blocks Plans Of Blue Chip

LOS ANGELES (UPI)— The Blue Chip Stamp Co. today was under court order to postpone its stock reorganization plan, now under attack by a Sacramento supermarket chain.

Superior Court Judge Charles Loring issued a restraining order yesterday forbidding Blue Chip to go ahead with the reorganization, until the protests of Raley's Inc., of Sacramento, can be aired in court.

The Sacramento firm claims Blue Chip has a surplus of $22 million, making each share of its stock worth $36.75. Raley's also objected to a proposal that would idemnify the nine store chains that originally controlled Blue Chip from any possible anti-trust claims.

FEATURED THIS SATURDAY
Personal care is the by-word at hospitals in Marin, and with National Hospital Week upcoming, the Independent-Journal's Marin Magazine takes note of some aspects of this care in tomorrow's edition.
The special services at Marin General Hospital and the intensive care unit at Ross General are covered in two stories which give but a glimpse of the work undertaken on behalf of patients.
Tomorrow is the 25th anniversary of the landing of U.S. troops on the bleak island of Attu, and the magazine features two pages of photos taken by Jack Craemer, co-publisher of the I-J, who was there.
For those who tire just thinking of a day's work, there is a story about an attractive dynamo, Hilary St. Leger of Sausalito, a girl of many talents.

MANGLED SPORTS CAR — The driver of this sports car, which was demolished when it turned over last night near Novato on Highway 101, was reported in good condition today. Corrine J. Duran of Novato was pinned under the wreckage until a tow truck came.

Sonoman Critical From 101 Accident

A Petaluma man was critically hurt last night in Novato when his car crashed and rolled over on Highway 101.

The California Highway Patrol also reported two other accidents in the Novato area early today.

The Petaluman, Johnny Martino, 37, was reported in critical condition today in Marin General Hospital with a severe head injury.

Officers said he was thrown from his northbound station wagon when the vehicle left the highway two miles north of Atherton Avenue, hit a railing, rolled over three times and went down an embankment. The crash happened at 11:50 p.m.

At 12:45 a.m., south of Atherton Avenue, a car driven by Dorothy J. Merla, 34, of 10 Sylvia Circle, Novato, struck the rear end of one driven by Ivan E. Lane, 63, of Santa Rosa, patrolmen said.

A single car accident at 2 a.m. sent Corrine J. Duran, 33, of 1129 Mirabelle Street, Novato, to Novato General Hospital.

She was pinned under her car until a tow truck arrived, according to patrolmen.

Novatan Is Chairman Of New Council

Novato Councilman Douglas M. Merrill was elected chairman of the newly formed City-County Planning Council last night at Civic Center.

Hugh Dougherty, a county planning commissioner, was elected vice chairman, and Paul C. Zucker, county planning director, recording secretary.

Council members agreed that the balanced transportation study, proposed by the county planning staff, "will be an important part of county wide planning which should be carried on under the auspices of this council."

Members asked Merrill and Dougherty to recommend committee appointments at the next meeting, set for 8 p.m. June 13.

Two items also to be taken up then are a discussion of the planning department budget and the "county wide plan" and elements that should go into such a plan.

Traffic Jumps 11 Pct. In April On Gate Bridge

Traffic on the Golden Gate Bridge rose a surprising 11.6 per cent in April this year over the same month last year, Gen. Mgr. James Adams told directors today.

During the same period, which saw 2,523,809 vehicles cross the bridge, the sale of commuter ticket books rose 8.4 per cent to 18,569, Adam reported.

He offered no explanation for the traffic increases, which normally run about 5 per cent a year. Adam made his report to the board meeting at the toll booth plaza.

Directors voted to give journeymen electricians on the bridge a $1-an-hour wage hike to $7.65 to conform with a recent union settlement reached in San Francisco.

Sausalito Councilman Balked On Marincello

Sausalito City Councilman Jan Paul Dyk was effectively silenced in Marin Superior Court yesterday, when he took the witness stand to testify in the muddled Marincello case.

His brief appearance marked the second day of a trial over a suit, brought by the City of Sausalito and four of its residents, to block construction of the controversial planned community.

Dyk was allowed to give the court a copy of a resolution, passed by the city council, which stated opposition to development of Marincello. Judge Harold J. Haley said he would probably later rule the document inadmissable as evidence.

Were the people of Sausalito concerned over the possible development of Marincello? Dyk was asked by attorney Robert P. Praetzel.

Judge Haley ruled the question inadmissable. It called for a conclusion Dyk was not qualified to reach, he said.

Was the resolution the result of the feelings of Sausalito citizens? Dyk was not allowed to answer for the same reason.

The trial, which was to continue in Superior Court today, concerns Sausalito's contention that rezoning of the Marincello land should be nullified.

The county failed to give adequate notice on the hearing at which supervisors rezoned the land and the planning commission failed to give the supervisors evidence it gathered on the rezoning, the suit contends.

Nicasio TrusteesTo Meet On Rehiring Mrs. Brennan

A closed meeting has been scheduled by the Nicasio School District board Monday to decide the fate of Mrs. Garnet Brennan, marijuana-smoking former principal of the school.

The closed session will follow a special meeting of the board at 8 p.m. at the school at which the budget and salary proposals of teachers will be discussed.

Mrs. Brennan, 58, who signed an affidavit supporting Mill Valley mechanic Melkon Melkonian, convicted of marijuana possession, said she had been using marijuana without ill effects for years.

This disclosure led to her ouster last Oct. 7 and a decision by the Nicasio board not to rehire her for the next school year.

A hearing before Harold A. Furst, hearing officer from the state Office of Administrative Procedure, in which Mrs. Brennan asked to be hehired, was concluded Tuesday. Furst announced that he would hand down his recommendation in a few days to the school board, which will make the final decision.

In other action last night, the Nicasio trustees decided to place the kindergarten class, which has been attending Lagunitas School this year under an interdistrict agreement, at Nicasio School next fall. The class will be integrated with the first and second grades under a staggered system.

Trustees also renewed for another year a lease-option agreement with Thomas Rogers for land adjacent to the school which they have been leasing.

A teachers' proposal for team teaching will be presented at the regular meeting of the board on June 13, it was decided.

Las Gallinas Summer Rec Office Sought

Gallinas Village Community Services District directors decided last night that some building should be rented to provide a base headquarters for the summer recreation staff if funds can be found in the budget.

The directors, headed by Chairman David Banfield, wrestled with the $22,500 preliminary budget presented by Secretary Marguerite F. Clark. Mrs. Clark said $22,500 is the estimated revenue that can be raised next year from the maximum one dollar per $100 assessed valuation tax rate allowed for the district.

Director Walter Rudolph said that the $25 per meeting fee for each director may have to be eliminated, but other directors said the fee should be retained to compensate directors for gasoline, telephone and other costs.

At present, the district has no building or office. Directors meet at MacPhail School and use recreation facilities at Gallinas School.

Sheriff Halts Use Of Mace Temporarily

After meeting with his senior officers, Mountanos ordered the mace containers to be stored until he has a full report of the chemical's aftereffects.

He said he took this action after San Francisco Police Chief Thomas Cahill also temporarily prohibited the use of mace.

Cahill made his ruling following reports from the U.S. surgeon general last week that mace "may produce more than transient effects" on people exposed to the spray gas.

Elsewhere in Marin today — except Corte Madera and Larkspur — police departments reported they would continue using mace when circumstances called for it.

Corte Madera Police Chief Frank L. Nelson said he favored the proper use of mace but had withdrawn a budget request to the town council for the purchase of the chemical following the U.S. surgeon general's report.

In Larkspur, Police Chief Howard Clark said: "I'm not sold on the idea it's the proper way to deal with fellow beings. There must be other ways." He said he would never order its use in Larkspur.

Overpass Crash Stalls Commuters

Southbound commuter traffic was delayed about 30 minutes on Highway 101 at the San Rafael overpass this morning after a car rammed a guard rail.

A woman passenger suffered minor injuries in the crash, which occurred about 6 a.m.

The California Highway Patrol said a car driven by John C. Strange, 53, of Rohnert Park, struck the railing after it skidded while trying to avoid a stalled car occupied by Donald P. Sands Jr., 46, of 777 Appleberry Lane, San Rafael.

Mildred Strange, 57, also of Rohnert Park and a passenger of Strange's, was treated at Marin General Hospital for a bruised nose.

Soil Conservation Newcomers Get Nod

The Marin County Soil Conservation Board yesterday approved applications from two new district co-operators, William Wright of Novato and Alvin J. Hansen of Two Rock, on the Marin-Sonoma County border.

The board also approved the by-laws of the Council of Bay Area Soil Conservation District, of which the Marin board is a member. Next meeting of the board will be June 13 at 10 a.m. in the soil conservation office in Point Reyes Station.

BOGUS CENSUS TAKER'S ON THE PROWL

Somebody is taking advantage of the current census in San Rafael to gain entry to homes and ask questions which are not for the census.

Herbert G. Hotchner, city planner who is in charge of the census project, today said several instances have been reported where census takers were told "somebody has already been here asking questions."

The census takers wear cards in plastic holders, signed with their own name, the names of Mayor C. Paul Bettini and Supt. of Schools John F. Plank, and with a picture of the San Rafael City Hall as background, Hotchner said. Anyone unable to display this identification is not an authorized census enumerator.

Marin Deaf Program Funds Asked

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Emergency legislation to finance an experimental program in Marin County for deaf and hard-of-hearing children was introduced yesterday by Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael.

The county schools office started the two-month program, the first in California, for nine children on April 1 at the Redwoods Presbyterian Church in Larkspur. The pre-school program is for children from 18 months to 3 years of age.

The program was authorized by the Legislature in 1967, but the bill failed to make necessary changes in the education code to provide state financing. McCarthy's bill would correct that error, reported his administrative assistant, B. Michael Kahl.

McCarthy's bill (SB 1279) required a two-thirds vote of the Senate to get it introduced. A hearing was set before the finance committee on the measure Tuesday. Without the special vote, the bill could not have been introduced because the deadline to introduce bills was last month.

A spokesman for the county schools office said the error in the 1967 legislation was not discovered until a week after the program started.

Officers Elected By Lions Club

Robert A. Borello of Point Reyes Station was elected first vice president; Philip R. Salmina of Point Reyes, secretary; James R. Alberigi of Point Reyes Station, treasurer; James L. Spaletta of Inverness, lion tamer, and Richard Giacomini of Point Reyes Station, tail twister.

New directors are Waldo Giacomini and Fred Rodoni.

Legislative Status Dinner Report Set

The present status of bills before the State Legislature will be discussed at a dinner meeting May 24 at 6:30 p.m. jointly sponsored by the Marin County School Boards Association, Marin Association of School Administrators and the Marin County Superintendent of Schools office.

Speakers at the meeting, at Sabella's Restaurant, Alto, will be Alvar Yelvington and Gordon Winton, members of the two associations.

Antimosquito Budget Grows

A tentative budget of $128,768 for 1968-69 was approved last night by trustees of the Marin County Mosquito Abatement District. This represents a 1 per cent increase over last year's budget of $127,484.

Included in the budget is a salary increase of 5 per cent for the district employees. The tentative budget will allow the mosquito abatement tax to remain at its present rate of $.025 per $100 assessed valuation, officials said.

Fewer mosquitos than last year in the county were predicted by the directors, who said that 5,500 acres of the Petaluma marshland had been sprayed by airplane.

BETTER HURRY, WILLIE

Thwarted in an attempt to score from second base on a single by Jimmy Hart, Willie McCovey scooted back safely into third base during third inning of last night's Giants game at Houston. A perfect throw from rightfielder Ivan Murrell to catcher John Bateman stopped McCovey and the Astros went on to beat San Francisco, 5-3.

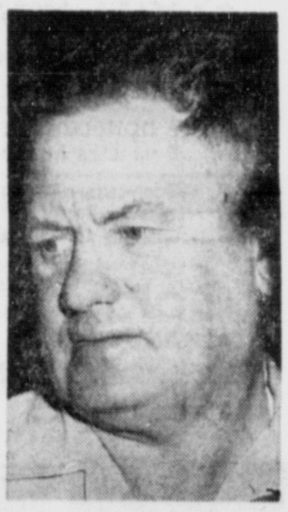
10 Hamilton Boxers Trying For Olympics

OFF WE GO . . . into the wild blue yonder.

That very well could be the theme song at the Western Regional Olympic boxing trials in San Francisco May 16,17,18.

No less than 10 Air Force boxers from Hamilton Field will be among the 90-plus outstanding mitt swingers from west of the Mississippi competing for a shot at the 1968 Olympic squad.



BILL ROSS

The Hamilton entrants for next weekend's gigantic card at Winterland Arena include Roland Miller, 119-pound former National Golden Gloves and AAU flyweight king; Patrick Neely, 106; Melvin Harper, 125; Dean Kromarek, 125; Homer Hall, 132; Formus White, 178; Mike Taylor, 132; John Kennedy, 139; Birsee Ross, 156, and Vincent Neratka, 139.

Coaching the Hamilton team is Bill Ross who, of course, will coach the U.S. Olympic team at the Games in Mexico City next October.

Confident Of Good Showing

One of the best coaches in the country, Ross knows that the U.S. fight crop this year is outstanding and he knows what conditions they'll face in mile-high Mexico City. He directed a team of six boxers in the Little Olympics there last November and said the high altitude did not adversely effect the stamina of his men.

The U.S. didn't win any championships at the Little Olympics, but Ross shrugged it off with: "Most of the fellows our men fought were in training for months. Our fellows didn't start training seriously until January and you can bet they'll be in the best of condition for the final trials."

The cream of next weekend's regional trials crop will advance to the final Olympic Trials at Toledo.

Tennis Camp For Youngsters

SUMMER CAMP — Mike Machette, the young tennis whiz from Belvedere, has been invited to the U.S. Junior Davis Cup Camp to be held at Stanford University June 23 to July 3. He's eighth ranked in National Boys Singles under 16 years of age and will be among an elite corps of the nation's leading junior players at the camp. Other top flighters invited from Northern California include fifth ranked Erik Van Dillen of San Mateo and Rick Fisher of Palo Alto.

Lacrosse Action In Marin Sunday

Marin Lacrosse Club takes on the San Francisco Club in a Northern California Lacrosse Association tilt at Strawberry Point in Mill Valley on Sunday at 2 p.m.

In other NCLA games, University of Calfornia at Berkeley hosts Palo Alto and Stanford hosts the Air Force Academy.

Bay Counties Tennis In Tiburon Tomorrow

The 71st annual Bay Counties Invitational Tennis Tournament will be held at the Tiburon Peninsula Club on successive weekends beginning tomorrow and Sunday.

Hole Draws Complaints From Pros

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Controversy raged today over the redesigned 15th hole at the plush Lakewood Country Club golf course where the $100,000 Greater New Orleans Open moved into its second day.

"I don't think it's a fair hole," said Bob Stanton, the 22-year-old Aussie who fashioned a six-under par 65 yesterday to take a one-stroke lead after the first round.

"I think it was a better hole to play as it was," said Tom Weiskopf, the handsome Ohio shotmaker who leads this year's money winners with nearly $80,000. Weiskopf, Johnny Pott and South African Gary Player, all had 66s.

San Rafael's Ron Cerrudo, an early leader in the tourney, was bunched with seven other golfers at 67.

Jack Nicklaus, golf's Golden Bear, said of No. 15, now a par 4 hole playing at 470 yards: "It was a wonderful par 5, but a lousy par 4."

" I don't give a damn what they say," commented Jack Weiss, a tournament official. "I think it's a real fine hole now. Just because it's a par 5 for the members doesn't mean it has to be a par 5 for the pros.

Eight of the 10 eagles made in last year's tourney, when 15 was played at par 5, were made on the hole.

"The official records show that there were more birdies than pars being made, necessitating a redesign of the hole," said Weiss.

"Inasmuch as it was a very long tee, officials decided to play from the very front of the tee at 470 yards, which is, according to the rules of golf, a par 4 hole. Therefore, the hole is a long and difficult par 4 rather than an easy and short par 5."

Pott got one of the five birdies registered yesterday on the hole. He sank what he called "a miracle putt" from 40 feet away and three feet off the green in the fringe.

"I'll call it an eagle," said Pott. "You can call it a birdie if you want to. I hit my drive right in the center of the fairway and still had to hook around trees to the green."

The IBM Sports Service computer came up with the information that altogether there were 67 pars, 47 bogeys and 25 double bogeys on the demanding hole.

Tam, Novato Golfers Win In Loop Play

Tamalpais High pushed its Marin County Athletic League golf record to 7-1 by downing Marin Catholic 187-199 at Mill Valley Municipal Course in a meet that had five young golfers share medalist honors.

Novato kept close behind at 6-2 with a 201-220 win over Redwood at Indian Valley course as three Hornets, topped by Ray Leach's 38, shot in the high 30s.

Wayne Smith, Bill Bleyle and Jeff DeVoto of Tam all shot 37s and had help from Kevin Hogan and Dean Rider with 38s as the Indians romped on their home course. Paul Culver and Ken Zimmerman shot 37s for the Wildcats.

Steve Hartman and Nip Grey at 43 were tops for Redwood, followed by Wayne Duerson at 44 and George Carewe and Ralph Bostick at 45.

Confusion, Jangled Nerves In Slowest Derby Decision

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Confusion, discretion, jingling phones and jangling nerves were everywhere today as the slowest decision in Kentucky Derby history plodded toward its finish line.

The end, most probably, will come Monday when the owner, trainer and handlers of Dancer's Image will appear before Churchill Downs stewards in a hearing to determine who drugged the horse, when they did it and why.

Made timid by the first disqualification in the 94-year history of America's and the world's most famous horse race, sources hedged at every question. All said they didn't want to say anything that might influence the outcome of the hearing.

"I'm just plain upset about all this," said Mrs. Gene Markey, owner of Forward Pass, who finished second in the Derby and was declared the winner after the drug was found in the system of Dancer's Image.

"It upset me in a way—I was elated—when they told me we had won the Derby," Mrs. Markey said. "Now they tell me maybe we haven't won. Frankly, I'm all mixed up."

The general manager of the firm that found the phenylbutazone wouldn't say anything at all. "I hope you understand, but all these questions will be asked at the hearing and we'll answer them then," he said.

—The original announcement by Churchill Downs Tuesday indicated that Dancer's Image had been disqualified and that Forward Pass had been declared the winner of the Derby.

—A statement later by one of the stewards who decide such things said that nothing was official—yet. But asked if Dancer's Image still might be declared the Derby winner, Leo O'Donnell said, "No, I don't think so."

—A second statement from Churchill Downs left no doubt. It said the track where the Derby has been at home for 94 years would recognize Forward Pass, from the Calumet Farm, as its 1968 winner.

"Only one point remains to be settled," public relations director Kelso Sturgeon said, "and that is the innocence or guilt of the parties connected with Dancer's Image."

First, it gives owner Peter Fuller and trainer Lou Cavalaris an opportunity to question procedures used in the urinalysis and the conclusions reached by the test. Presumably, they could even question the staff that conducted it.

Second, it no doubt will include testimony about how much of the drug was uncovered in the test. This is the crux of the problem and, until the hearing, those involved won't comment.

Cavalaris has said he gave the colt two tablets of phenylbutazone on the Sunday before the Derby—six days before the big race—at about 10:30 a.m. He said that is the only dose the colt had, to his knowledge, in his life.

The hearing, by tradition, would be closed to both the public and the press. However, there are those near Churchill Downs' higher echelons who are pressing to open this one to help restore public faith in the derby, a public institution.

It is set for 9 a.m. Monday.

Negroes Win Concessions At Kansas U.

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) — University of Kansas athletes have gained some results from a one-day boycott of spring football practice and a threat to boycott all athletics in support of demands for a Negro cheerleader, a Negro coach and more Negro professors.

A university spokesman said last night a Negro will be chosen to fill a vacancy on the pom pon girls' squad; a course in Negro history will be offered next fall, and the university always is looking for qualified Negro faculty members.

IN FUTURE

John Greene, Negro student and former football player, said he thought the protesting group generally was satisfied with the answers.

Spring football and track are the only sports affected immediately because there are no Negroes on the baseball golf and tennis teams.

There were indications that the Negroes will show up for the final football session — an intrasquad game — tomorrow, and five Negro trackmen were expected to compete tomorrow in the West Coast Relays at Fresno, as planned.

The Negroes alleged discrimination in the selection of pom pon girls. Three of the 95 applicants were Negroes, and all of the eight regular and four alternate pom pon girls chosen last month were white.

Wednesday the selection committee told the protesting group that a Negro girl would be added as an alternate.

Then the demands for a Negro coach, a course in Negro history and more Negro professors were added to the list last night.

RESIGNS

William A. Kelly, associate dean of the law school and assistant chairman of the human relations committee, announced that a member of the pom pon squad had resigned for personal reasons.

He said the other girls, "in recognition of the merits of your request, have volunteered that the vacancy be filled by a Negro girl..." He said a Negro will be on future selection committees.

Kelly said the course in Negro history will be taught by Prof. William H. Tuttle, a white man.

Giants Happy To Get Out Of Astrodome; Face Reds

Giants Manager Herman Franks announced the indefinite suspension of the fiery shortstop. Franks said Lanier threw his bat and helmet in anger and used harsh language Wednesday night when he was lifted for a pinch-hitter.

FINED

Lanier was fined as well but the amount was not disclosed. At shortstop last night was Jim Davenport who shifted over from third base. Jim Hart filled Davenport's spot.

The Giants open a three-game series tonight against the Reds in Cincinnati. Gaylord Perry, 2-2, will be on the mound for San Francisco opposing George Culver, 1-1.

ONE MORE

Davis drove in what proved to be the winning run with a single in the fourth. Bob Aspromonte brought in the fifth run for the Astros in the fifth with a single, scoring Wynn, who was safe on an error and moved up on a sacrifice.

McCormick, last year's National League Cy Young Award winner, lasted 4⅓ innings. He gave up seven hits and was responsible for all five runs. His record dropped to 2-3. Winner Dave Giusti lifted his record to 3-2.

McCOVEY SLUGS

A double by Willie McCovey, single by Hart and an error gave the Giants a run in the second.

In the third, Hart's bases-loaded sacrifice fly scored Jim Davenport, who had singled and advanced on Willie Mays' single and an intentional walk to McCovey.

Oakland Attendance Sags; Sox Edge A's

OAKLAND (UPI) — Things were back to normal today at the Oakland ballpark except for the attendance. It was worse.

Only 4,062 turned out last night at the chilly Coliseum to watch the Athletics fall before the Chicago White Sox, 4-2, 24 hours after the A's Jim Hunter made history by recording a perfect, 4-0 no hitter against Minnesota.

This meant a drop of 2,236 spectators in the vast arena last night as Gary Peters, the White Sox ace southpaw, turned back the A's with some relief help in the ninth from Bob Locker.

Lew Krausse, now 1-4, worked the first seven innings for the A's and was tagged for seven hits which included two homers by Pete Ward.

The versatile Canadian tied the game with a bases empty homer in the fifth inning, 2-2, then sent Chicago ahead to stay by socking his second solo of the night in the seventh. This gave him a total of eight for the year and put him in a three way tie for top spot with Willie McCovey of the San Francisco Giants and the California Angels' Roger Repoz in the big league race.

But Ward said afterward that his thoughts weren't on any title.

"Twenty in a season is good for me," he said and noted that Cominsky Park, the White Sox longtime home, was a tough place for any home run hitter.

Peters worked 8 2-3 innings then was lifted for righthander Locker after Rick Monday hit a triple to left with two down. Manager Bob Kennedy switched pinch hitters around during the strategy, starting Danny Cater up to the plate for Oakland then replacing him with Floyd Robinson. The latter bounced out to end the contest.

Tim Cullen's single off reliever Ed Sprague gave the White Sox an insurance run in the eighth.

"What a difference a day makes," Kennedy said afterward in reference to Hunter's masterpiece. "We didn't exactly wear that pea out tonight but the kids will bounce back."

As for the attendance...well... Tonight Joe Dobson (2-1) is against Tommy John (2-0) of Chicago. Gametime is 7:30.

JIM BEAM BOURBON— MAKING NEWS SINCE 1795

CLERMONT, KY.—173 years ago Jacob Beam started making Beam Bourbon here in Kentucky. It is still being made here today. And still by the Beams.

Along with inspired skills, the making of a Bourbon like Beam requires an unusual combination of land, climate and natural materials. And it's all here, in north central Kentucky.

Houston's Astroturf Just Like Pool Table

HOUSTON — Baseball in the Astrodome is a different game from that played outdoors. The reason is the Dome's artificial grass which actually is a chemical carpet called astroturf.

A baseball bouces higher and rolls faster in the Astrodome than any outdoor park. That wasn't always the case. The Astrodome had natural grass when it opened. The grass grew until skylight panes of the Dome were painted to reduce sunlight glare on the field.

"You can talk all you want to about the fast infields in Pittsburgh, St. Louis or Los Angeles," said Larry Jansen, "but this one has them all beat.

"WHEN A PITCHER is making batters hit the ball on the ground he is doing his job. Of course, baseball is a game of inches, as the old cliche has it. But a pitcher has a reasonable right to expect an out on most ground balls.

"That's not the case in the Dome. Grounders that would be fielded elsewhere, including the fastest of outdoor infields, get through for hits in the Dome. However, don't get me wrong. I know it's just as tough on Houston's pitchers."

WHAT ABOUT the pitching mound in the Astrodome? It looks higher than the 15 inches specified in baseball rules.

"That's because it is steep," said Jansen. "It isn't as sloped as those elsewhere. A pitcher may be bothered by it for a couple of innings because his striding foot touches ground a fraction of a second later."

JANSEN WOULDN'T claim that as an alibi for Gaylord Perry who was hit hard in the opener of the Giant-Astro series Monday night when the Astros kayoed Perry in 1⅔ innings, scoring seven runs on seven hits.

"The warmup mound in the bullpen is steep, too," said the pitching coach of the Giants. "so you know what to expect. I remember when we used to barnstorm through little towns after spring training. We got accustomed to pitching from flat mounds, steep ones, lopsided ones and even one that had holes in it."

WHILE JANSEN was quick to point out the difference in ground balls hit in the Astrodome and elsewhere, he refused to use that fact or the steep mound to excuse the showing of his pitching staff in the Dome during the last couple of seasons.

For instance, Perry's performance in the 1968 series opener between the Giants and Astor's merely continued a pattern established in 1967. Perry pitched 18 innings aginst Houston last year, yielding 24 hits and 14 earned runs for a 7.13 ERA. Now that figure has ballooned to 9.00.

"Last season," said Santo Domingo, "we won 13 of 18 from Houston but only four out of nine in the Dome. And in 1966 our record in the Dome also was four out of nine.

"THERE HAS to be a reason for that. And I'll tell you what it is — the pool table playing surface in the Astrodome. Just look at Houston's home and road record this year. When we came in Monday I looked it up, 1-8 on the road, 8-5 in the Dome."

Top Track Stars Vie In Fresno

FRESNO (AP) — Tommie Smith runs a special 220-yard dash in competition which could lower his world record as action opens tonight in the 42nd West Coast Relays.

Action continuing through tomorrow night could see several records fall including the two-mile relay on the second evening when Kansas, with Jim Ryun, vies against Villanova and a group of West Coast quartets.

Smith, who attended San Jose State College, holds the world record in the furlong at 20 seconds flat. He has run a 20.5 already this year and the fast track at Fresno could bring out an even better time as he goes against John Carlos, Jerry Williams and Jim Farmer among others.

Both Kansas and Villanova have posted times of 7:21.8 in the two-mile relay compared with the world record of 7:16.0 by a Russian team.

Villanova also has a strong team in the mile relay with sophomore star Larry James running the anchor leg. Other teams are from Arizona State, Arizona, University of Texas, at El Paso, San Jose State and the University of Utah.

San Jose State, 40.0, and the Santa Clara Valley Youth Village, 39.9, are both in the 440 relay where they have the best times of the year respectivly for colleges and club outfits.

Entered for the two-day meet are 2,231 including high schools, junior colleges, universities and clubs. Most of the open competition will be held tomorrow night.

Bob Seagren of Southern California has gone over 17-1½, Altti Alarotu of Brigham Young, 17-1¼, Erkki Mustakari of Fresno State 17-½ and Chris Papanicolaou of San Jose State 17-0.

Peter Boyce of Stanford, who cleared 7-3 during a dual meet in Ratcliffe Stadium against Fresno State, will be back trying to jump even higher in the same arena.

STANLEY CUP PLAYOFFS

Canadiens Take 3-0 Lead

MONTREAL (AP) — Bobby Rousseau ruined Doug Harvey's homecoming last nightby scoring at 1:13 of overtime to give the Montreal Canadiens a 4-3 Stanley Cup victory and 3-0 lead in the best-of-7 final series against the St. Louis Blues.

It was the first time in four years that the 43-year-old Harvey had played in the Montreal Forum after spending 14 seasons of glory with the Canadiens before being sold to the New York Rangers.

He was called back up after the Kansas City Blues, with whom he was playing coach this season, were knocked out of the Central Professional League playoffs.

But his duty with St. Louis was cut short by a groin injury and he managed to see only brief playoff action against Philadelphia and Minnesota. He hadn't played in the other final games, won 3-2 in overtime and 1-0 by Montreal in St. Louis.

Rousseau, whose goal was his first playoff winner in eight years as a Canadien, was just breaking into the big time and played only 15 games in Harvey's last year with Montreal.

But last night Rousseau slammed the puck past veteran St. Louis goalie Glenn Hall after winger Dick Duff had split Harvey and defense partner Barclay Plager to get two tries at a goal only to be held off by Hall.

Yvan Cournoyer, Serge Savard and Ralph Backstrom were the other Canadiens to get the puck past Hall, while Red Berenson, with two goals, and Frank St. Marseille, beat Lorne Worsley in the Montreal net.

The fourth game of the series is set for tomorrow at noon, PDT., and will be televised by CBS.

Rozelle Says NFL Players Innocent In Gambling Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pro football Commissioner Pete Rozelle says four players whose names have entered a Federal Grand Jury gambling probe are innocent of any wrongdoing.

Pittsburgh tackle Fran O'Brien testifed yestefday as the Grand Jury in suburban Alexandria, Va., wound up three days of secret hearings.

Subpoenas were canceled without being served on Washington quarterback Sonny Jurgensen, Redskins guard Vice Promuto and Baltimore defensive end Andy Stynchula.

Redskins' President Edward Bennett Williams, an attorney, said Jurgensen and Promuto have been cooperating willingly in the investigation. He said the two players were questioned by federal officials several weeks ago.

The Federal Grand Jury decided to take a five-week recess and resume the investigation June 12.

The probe is aimed at alleged illegal use of interstate facilities to conduct and promote gambling in the Washington area. Court sources have said witnesses have been called to give information and not as suspects.

New-Look White Sox Show Power

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Chicago White Sox are back on the road to the pennant race, using a new way—for them—to travel. The Sox are winning with home runs.

Pete Ward, their newly discovered slugger, smacked two solo shots, his seventh and eighth of the season, and powered the Sox to a 4-2 victory over the Oakland A's last night.

But Ward is not alone. Joining him have been Tommy Davis, Luis Aparicio, Tom McCraw and pitcher Gary Peters as Chicago has turned around from its 0-10 start to win eight of its last 13 games.

Peters went 8 2-3 innings, giving up only five hits, for the latest triumph which moved the still last-place Sox only 7½ games behind American League leading Ba'timore.

Minnesota broke a third place tie with Oakland by coming from behind for a 4-3 10-inning triumph over California on Rod Carew's double and Cesar Tovar's single.

He singled in the first inning, stole second and scored on Harmon Killebrew's single for a 1-0 Minnesota lead, but the Angels' Tom Satriano wiped that out with a three-run homer off Jim Merritt in the third.

After Ted Uh'aender's bunt single scored Tony Oliva, who had doubled, from second base in the seventh, Carew and Tovar singled in the eighth and Carew scored on Frank Kostro's pinch sacrifice fly for a 3-3 score.

With Ron Perranoski holding off the Angels for two innings for his first A.L. victory, Carew and Tovar teamed again in the 10th against Jim Weaver.

Ortega helped himself with his bat to his fourth victory, doubling in Washington's third run in the sixth. He scattered seven hits in seven innings before Baldwin came on.

Callison Has A Hot Bat In Phils' Win Over Reds

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Johnny Callison has thrown away his weights and now his bat is weighing into Philadelphia's push towards the top of the National League.

Callison drove in four runs with a double, triple and home run last night, helping the Phillies beat Cincinnati 7-3. It was the third straight victory over the Reds for the Phillies and the second straight game in which Callison homered.

The victory puiled the Phillies into second place, one game ahead of Cincinnati, Los Angeles and San Francisco and three back of idle St. Louis. The Dodgers dropped Chicago 6-0, Houston downed San Francisco 5-3 and Atlanta topped Pittsburgh 4-2 in the only other National League games scheduled.

Callison spent a week last winter with Gene Berde, the 63-year-old conditioning expert from Wakefield, Mass., who was credited with developing the body-building program that turned Carl Yastrzemski into baseball's top slugger last year.

"It wasn't a muscle-building thing," says Callison of the week he spent under Berde's tutelage. "As a matter of fact, he told me to throw away my weights. He told me all they did is build tired muscles."

So Callison climbed ropes, went through breathing exercises and rested his tired muscles. The result was a revitalized spring in which he felt leaner and stronger than at any time during his career.

He looked strong enough to the Reds. In the first inning of last night's game, he followed a walk to Tony Taylor and Cookie Rojas' single with his three-base hit.

Then, after the Reds had tied the score in their half of the first, Callison unloaded his third home run of the season in the third inning with Taylor aboard.

Rojas climaxed the Phillie attack with a three-run homer in the ninth that wrapped up Larry Jackson's third victory. Dick Farrell finished up for Jackson when the Reds nicked him for a run in the bottom of the ninth.

Jackson's bases-loaded single in the second got Atlanta off in front and then he singled home another run with two-out in the eighth inning. Jim Britton, another rookie, relieved Reed in the ninth and got the final out.

Rocky Colavito smashed his third homer in two days for Los Angeles and Bill Singer's three-hitter shut out the Cubs.

Mike Warren Is Undecided

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Mike Warren, captain of UCLA's national champion basketball team for the past two years, is undecided about his future—he may try to make it as a pro player or go into an acting career.

If he does play pro ball, he said he would probably sign with the Los Angeles Stars of the American Basketball Association and wants no part of the National Basketball Association.

"I'm not at all disappointed the NBA didn't select me. I never intended to play in the NBA anyway. The NBA sent me some questionnaires but I never even returned them.

Famed Colin Chapman Tells Why He Quit The Indy '500'

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI)—Car builder Colin Chapman pulled out of the Indianapolis "500" Wednesday and prepared to return to England, "filled with grief" over the racing deaths of Jimmy Clark and Mike Spence.

Chapman, president of Lotus Cars, Ltd., and designer and builder of four turbocars at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway for this year's 500-mile race, said he "just doesn't have the heart" for this year's Memorial Day race.

"I am filled with grief at the loss of my long time friend and associate, Jimmy Clark, and the additional loss just a month later to the day of Mike Spence," Chapman said. "As an understandable result, I want nothing more to do with the 1968 Indianapolis race."

Chapman said he was handing direction of the 1968 crew and cars to his "500" partner, Andy Granatelli.

Chapman said it was "regrettable" that the withdrawal from the "500" of a three-turbine team by Carroll Shelby was "somehow associated with the death of Mike Spence."

Spence died Tuesday night of injuries suffered earlier in the day in a practice lap smashup in one of the Granatelli turbines. Clark was killed a month ago in a European race accident.

"Both Andy and Ike agree that the combination of four wheel drive and turbine power provides the safest kind of racing vehicle and that this combination is here to stay," Chapman said. "It should be obvious that the tragic accident which took Mike Spence's life had nothing to do with the design, power source or construction of his car."

Chapman also noted that chief steward Harlan Fengler had released the turbines after the USAC technical inspectors found no mechanical failures. The Granatelli turbines were impounded briefly after Spence's accident.

Racing's Halo Came Down Like A Bomb

Well, said we journalists, they will never take the winner's number down in the Kentucky Derby.

Not (snicker) even if the winner (Haw! Haw!) wins by shooting the place rider out of the saddle or the (Hee! Hee!) place horse out of the field.

Anything goes in the Kentucky Derby (nudge in the ribs). That's what we said.

NO, VIRGINIA, you can snatch saddle clots, knock a guy into the infield, cross over in front of the field with a dying horse — do all kinds of things that would get you 60 days at Pimlico if you did it in an allowance race. But if you finish first in the Kentucky Derby, you stay first.

That's what we said.

BUT, WHEN they took a number down in the Kentucky Derby finally, they didn't fool around. They went for the bomb, baby. They took down racing's halo, too.

Because, it wasn't for anything simple — like, interfering in the stretch or lugging out on a turn. The first guy that called me on the startling news set the tone the whole country has been following. "The horse was drugged," he said excitedly. The day's headlines that follow leaned heavily on the themes "Drugged" and "Doped." Shades of Arnold Rothstein! It has the kind of lurid ring like "Jockeys' Fling Uncovered!" that Racing goes to such lengths to avoid.

CHURCHILL DOWNS must have had an extraordinary wrestle with its conscience. They weren't only hanging a shiner on the Kentucky Derby, they were hanging one on all racing, which has had a tough enough time bucking its syringe-and-battery past anyway.

In the first place, Dancer's Image wasn't using a "drug," unless you consider aspirin a "drug" too. "Butazolidin," or the derivative thereof used in this case, is an analgesic compound which means that it's a substance used to kill pain without producing unconsciousness. It is not a stimulant.

NOW, I'M not copping a plea for Racing — ask any race track in town if they think I'm a "horse" man and they'll like to die laughing. But this stuff was legal in Kentucky up to only a couple of years ago — and was used by a Kentucky Derby winner! Look it up. That's what got him outlawed there.

Now, the next thing is — you can use butazolidin ALL YOU WANT to train a horse up to a race. No one checks on you.

AND NOW that we have a new winner and new order-of-finish, who's to say THEY weren't using butazolidin or its equivalent? Post races they check only the winner. In some stakes races, they test back to fourth place, but in the Derby it's my understanding they just picked one other horse at random. He passed. He wasn't on anything. He finished fifth.

ATHLETES IN every sport use analgesics—even stimulants. They pop novacaine into swollen ankles, throbbing arms. You can walk into a hundred locker rooms and see amphetamines lying around like rock candy. Nobody shines a flashlight in the pupils of the eyes of a guy who has just lost three teeth, a broken jaw and a crunched knee cap scoring the winning touchdown for dear ol' State. Smelling salts on a fighter is a stimulant and a restorative. It's also a standard.

PART OF THE trouble, too, is that Churchill Downs, a relic of racing's past, has always been run like a river barge crap game. Anthing goes. Or went. One day, last week, in a nine-race card, they had THREE inquiries and took two numbers down. The race right after the Derby resulted also in a steward's disqualification. The riders try everything but cutting across the infield there, because they always got away with it before.

IF CHURCHILL is finally resoundingly letting them know those days are over, well, bully for them. But the way they did it this time makes it sound like somebody should be in prison.

Nor will you get any lament here for the majority of the track bettors who, after all, as it turned out, had the race winner but came up empty. If they haven't wised up by now to the fact that playing the horses is like playing cards in the dark with a guy who has the only flashlight in teh crowd, there's nothing more I can do for them.

ACTUALLY, THE track action should restore us journalists' faith in our eyesight — and our sources. Consulting both, I wrote for the pre-race early edition Saturday, "Native Dancer's got a son in this Derby, but he's got ankles so weak he looks like a guy learning to ice skate, and it's just hoped he isn't the first Derby horse they have to shoot to clear up the track for the next race. . . . I don't think he'll be able to win this race with a limp or that Churchill Downs is ready for the spectacle of a trainer holding up a winner's circle picture while he fires his colt's ankles."

STILL, I THINK "drugged" or "doped" is too bum a rap. "Medicated" is as far as I'd go. Somebody broke a rule, to be sure. But masking pain is a way of life today from the businessman who gulps Miltowns to a guy who takes gout pills. The Humane Society may have a beef. Making a horse run when he should be home in bed is not exactly Be Kind to Animals Week.

But as for public morality? Shucks, it just starts a lot of arguments over who should win the office pools. And they're as illegal as butazolidin.

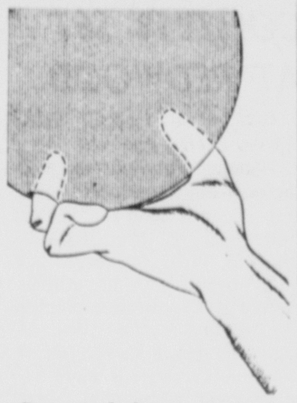
BOWLING TIPS

By DON CARTER



Because I do not want my little finger to inadvertently twist the ball during delivery, I take it out of action by curling it under, as shown. If you prefer to straighten this finger, keep it close to the others — don't spread it out. Spreading it out gives it too much leverage at release and can turn a good hook into a misdirected straight ball.

The Salmon Take A Hike

By RALPH STEVENS

What a difference a day can make. The action on one day doesn't necessarily set the pace for the next day. For example, salmon trolling in the ocean last Saturday was a very productive day for many party boats. The boat, Sea Horse, boated 11 salmon to 12 pounds with only a few rods working, the Sea Wolf took 19 nice fish, the Anna V netted 27 salmon to 17 pounds and the Wilma H took an even dozen salmon to 18 pounds. To name a few of the sport fishing salmon boats. Came sundown on Saturday . . . the salmon ganged up and departed from the area off the Farallones where the action had been brisk.

Another search for the truant salmon must now get under way and it's been very, very slow.

It would be a welcome change to now report some hot news of local fishing for stripers and sturgeon with a casual mention of top flight flounder fishing, but alas and alack, it can't be done. One report just in, however, might indicate an upswing in striper fishing. The boat, Millie Len, boated 3 bass to 38 pounds while fishing off Benicia.

Statistics Show Why Novato In Prep Lead

In case anyone is wondering why Novato High School is sitting on top of the Marin Clunty Athletic League baseball standings, there is a good reason for it.

In fact, there are several, if you take a look at the MCAL batting statistics.

Novato, as a team, is batting .305 and the Hornets have no less than 5 players in the top 14 list, headed by Bob Tait's 409.

Tait is followed by Bob Moore (.379), Tom Zechlin (.375), Barry Berringer (.364), Jeff Moats (.348) and Mark Newsome (.343).

Drake catcher Don Alvarado is the top hitter in the league with a .480 mark. He also has a share of the triples lead with Ken Johnson, Jim Peters, and Gary Trono.

Hard-working Mike Timmel of Terra Linda has amassed all of the Trojans' league victories for a 7-0 record.

NEW COMMUNICATIONS CARRIER SYSTEM

This equipment is the first of a new family of products utilizing a transmission technique that is expected to become "standard" in the telephone industry. Developed by Lenkurt Electric Co., Inc., San Carlos, a subsidiary of General Telephone and Electronics Corp., it converts speech, data and other signals into coded pulses for transmission over telephone lines. The system allows two or more voice conversations to be carried over the same line, with almost noise-free transmission.

SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

Are War On Poverty Demands Intransigent?

The Marin County Board of Supervisors this week was served notice to expect a hot and violent summer. And the implication was plain that it will be more violent unless the county gives more money to the War on Poverty.

This threat ("This is not a threat. I'm just telling you what is going to happen," said one speaker) came from officials of the Marin Economic Opportunity Council, created by the board of supervisors itself as the Marin agency for the War on Poverty program.

About half of the council members are from Marin City, and it is there that most of the money has been spent to date. In fact, the Marin County Economic Opportunity Council grew from a Marin City task force which was set up before the Economic Opportunity Act called for county-wide and area-wide organization.

THE SUPERVISORS were placed in a tough position. They will try to find their way out next Tuesday.

But if they do grant the funds, they have little assurance from what has happened to date that the funds will either provide jobs for the unemployed—as they are supposed to do—or will avert any violence.

LAST YEAR, 110 cities across the United States were wracked by racial riots. The "long hot summer" started early this year with rioting in the nation's capital.

Many of the 110 cities which were scenes of violence last year had extensive War on Poverty programs, funded with what both local and federal officials considered ample money. It made little difference.

In fact, there have been charges — and some evidence — that persons on the War on Poverty payroll fomented and led some of the riots.

The National Advisory Commission on Civil Disorders, in its report to President Johnson, made no mention of these charges. But it said the War on Poverty, as presently set up, is indequate to satisfy minority group demands and cannot head off violence.

OF THE WAR on Poverty's accomplishments in its three years of existence, the commission's report had this to say:

"The effort to put maximum feasible participation into effect has met with both success and failure. One measure of its success can be seen in the extent to which the demand for participation, even control, over a variety of programs affecting the ghetto has spilled over into the most traditional areas, such as public school administration.

"But the demands made often seem intransigent and the time required for negotiations with residents extravagant."

THE MARIN COUNTY Economic Opportunity Council's budget for this year was based on expectation of federal EOC allotment of $121,000. But there have been cutbacks in federal funds. The county is now being called on to make up these cuts, and expand the program.

What bothers the supervisors —and many others — is that when the question is asked as to how many jobs the program has found, the EOC's answer is evasive and usually includes "we haven't had time yet."

The EOC wants more county tax funds. Its leaders insist the program must be expanded to make it work. Are its demands intransigent?

This is the tough question before the county supervisors in a year of widepread rebellion over rising taxes — a more peaceful and orderly rebellion than that of the black minority, but one the supervisors cannot well ignore.

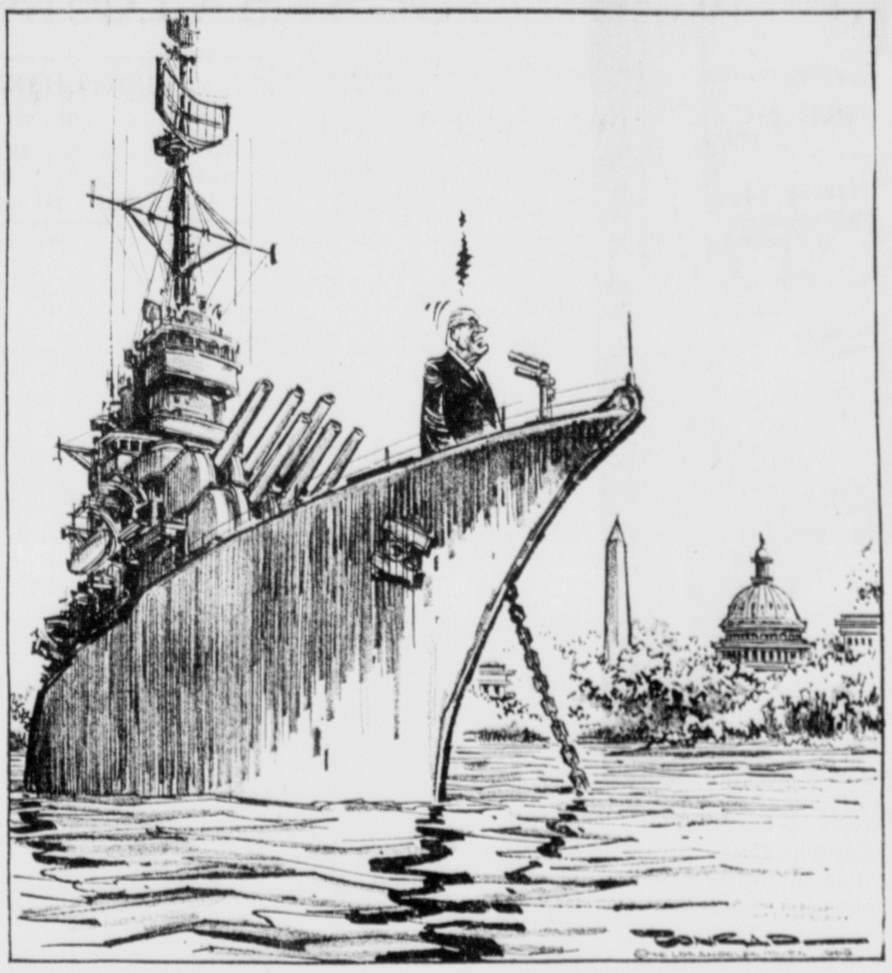
Our society has some strange aspects. For instance: a school teacher may, with impunity, break a law, advocate marijuana and LSD, preach revolution, or absent herself from classes. But if she gets overweight, she may lose her job.



"We accept Indonesia's offer of a neutral vessel anchored in the neutral water of the Potomac to meet with Wilbur Mills to negotiate a tax surcharge."

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

'Mature' Adults Crowd College

Editor, Independent-Journal:

What's wrong with College of Marin?

Do the people of Marin know that over one-half of the students at the College of Marin are "mature" adults? I use that word lightly because I really mean these are not young people — such as graduating seniors from high schools. If these adults were mature they would not be taking up space during the day in a college originally meant for our children as a stepping stone to higher education.

Do the people of Marin know that if they have a graduating senior in high school who is planning on enrolling at the College of Marin in the fall for the day classes, that these boys and girls have as much chance as a snowball in the desert of getting into these classes because of the number of adults who will "beat them to it"? Of course any students turned away because the classes are already filled have the opportunity of registering for night classes. There are many who wouldn't mind going to school at night but I'm sure most parents would prefer that their children go to school during the day.

These same adults mentioned above also think they should run the college, along with many of the teachers who are not doing the job they were hired for — teaching. You would think with the high salaries being paid teachers these days that they would be interested enough in their profession to want to teach their students.

Now we have lost a promising superintendent just because he was trying to do the job he was hired for. If we don't have someone with an iron hand in that position who will keep the faculty in line?

What can we do to clean up the college for the coming year? We do want our children to have a good education, but with all this unrest, how can this be accomplished?

Kennedy Hecklers Not USF Students

Editor, Independent-Journal:

As an alumnus of the University of San Francisco (class of '67) I would like to defend the university against the unjust criticism leveled against its students and alumni resulting from the poor reception given to Sen. Robert Kennedy.

The disrespect shown Mr. Kennedy can in no way be construed as the action or sentiments of the students of U.S.F. The only mistake U.S.F. made was risking its good name for the cause of public interest and public benefit. The U.S.F. gym was opened to the public so those interested could hear a candidate for our highest public office explain his views on the issues confronting the candidates for president. U.S.F. is a private school so it is private property as well. In this respect some arbitrary means could have been set up to screen admission to the speech. As an educational institution U.S.F. saw its duty to aid in informing the public and consequently opened this speech to the public. In many respects seeing and hearing Senator Kennedy was a privilege that many abused by outrageous conduct.

A major cause of disturbance was a block of students from a nearby state college representing a group called "Students for a Democratic Society," which is quite a misnomer. A small spattering of hecklers also aided in the disruption of the proceedings. Since I was present, and am familiar with the university, I would say that about one-third of those present were affiliated with U.S.F. and these were not responsible for the trouble that arose. The majority of the audience was composed of interested students and citizens from all over. On this occasion as well as on many recently, a few "rotten apples" spoiled the barrel. A few malcontented, self-seeking, big mouths ruined the speech for everyone and in the process tarnished the name of a fine educational institution. I only hope people will understand that this was a public function and that the unfortunate results cannot be blamed in any way on the students, alumni, faculty, or administration of the University of San Francisco.

Three of our supervisorial cinadidates from North Marin advocated a combined city and county government.

The Marin County Planning Commission approved an R-1, B-2 zoning for Tiburon's uplands, meaning one-family residences on lots of not less than 10,000 square feet on the hillsides.

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

THERE'S a Broadway pizza emporium that features an impressive, white-capped chef back of the window, tossing wads of dough into the air and catching them in his frying pan. A big crowd of busy, busy people is always on hand to watch him — and a good part of this sidewalk stays on for long periods of time. "Do you think," the chef was asked, "that they're hoping you'll drop one of the soon-to-be pizzas on the floor?" "Naw," responded the chef in his impeccable Italian. "They're hoping it'll get stuck on the ceiling."

A notorious Mrs. Malaprop volunteered to call on hospitalized members of her congregation, but was warned that she was to speak only words of cheer and encouragement. Her very first visit was to an old lady sitting up in bed watching TV, and, mindful of instructions, she began cheerily, "Well, you certainly don't look as if you'll be here much longer!"

MARQUIS CHILDS

The Campaign And Washington: Different As Separate Planets

WASHINGTON — The ominous stalemate here in the capital and the shouting and the tumult in the presidential primaries seem to be happening on two different planets. The moon people have been out in Indiana releasing rivers of words and money and they will go on to repeat the performance in Nebraska, Oregon and California.

The earth people in Washington are locked in mortal combat over how to move the nation out of the slough of despond. Since he is not a candidate and since he must bear the burden for another eight months, that earliest of the earth people, President Johnson, speaks out in anger and anguish.

The tax bill is a symbol, as are the economies demanded as the price for passage of a tax increase. They symbolize the stalemate under the American system of divided powers between the executive and the legislature. Knowing how costly this stalemate is because he is pinned down in the trenches between two fires, the president cannot conceal his impatience. One of those present at the emotional confrontation in the White House with congressional leaders last week quoted the president as saying, even as he agreed to the $4 billion in budget cuts:

"I'll tell you what I would do if I was a dictator. I'd add $20 billion to the budget and I would impose a surtax of 20 per cent instead of 10 per cent."

BUT THE PRESIDENT, who hoped that his renunciation of further ambition would help both in bringing peace in Vietnam and agreement with Congress, is not a dictator. He confronts Chairman Wilbur Mills of the House ways and means committee, whom he regards as an irresponsible dictator. The problem of the deteriorating cities, accentuated by the Poor People's March on Washington, and the threatening crisis over the dollar are the dimensions of the trap in which Johnson is caught as his term runs out.

Robert F. Kennedy and more particularly Eugene McCarthy have been saying in Indiana what should be done if the evils plaguing America are to be abated. Their prescriptions have the ring of urgent necessity except, of course, for those on the right who consider any and all government spending as an inherent evil. They would turn billions in federal revenue to the cure of hunger, joblessness, and the pollution of air and water.

They do not say—it may be too much to expect any politician seeking office to say — how they would do this. They do not say how they would persuade the American people to tax themselves for the programs they propose nor how the congressional system of seniority and small town-country dominatiion could be made to work even with such persuasion.

It worked in an earlier crisis of probably greater magnitude than the present. Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1932 won a smashing electoral victory and brought in Democratic majorities in both Senate and House. In 1933 his triumph was greater, with top-heavy control in Congress. It was possible to take some of the measures essential to abate the direct consequences of the depression, although not until the onset of the allied war orders in 1940 was any real dent made on the great mass of the unemployed.

THIS YEAR an underlying concern, reflected in the polls and above all in the number of undecideds, is whether any of the candidates can win decisively and govern the country. That fear is accentuated by the third-party candidacy of George Wallace, who seems at this stage certain to carry no fewer than five southern states. A Wallace vote can narrow the margin of the two major party candidates in several northern states.

A close election — an election very possibly thrown into the House of Representatives under the antiquated machinery of the electoral colleges — can only continue the stalemate. For in close elections as in landslides the Wilbur Millses and the others from the southern small towns always come back.

Political Rumors Suddenly Rife In One-Party Spain

By LOREN JENKINS

MADRID (UPI)—After nearly 30 years of domination by Generalissimo Francisco Franco, Spain has re-emerged as a nation where expectations of change are heard.

Where once there was only Franco and his authoritarian regime, now there is very evident movement among both his superiors and opponents to maneuver into a position to dominate the country once the 75-year-old Franco steps down or is retired by illness or death.

This maneuvering involves neo-fascist Falange Party stalwarts, the monarchists, the Catholic lay order "Opus Dei," as well as the young technocrats who are less concerned with ideology than in getting Spain developed economically.

UNDERLINING the increasingly open struggle of these groups and such powerful inorganizations as the Communist-Jesuit "workers' commissions" is a sudden reemergence of political speculation.

Nowhere has this become more evident than a flurry of persistent unconfirmed reports about the potential role of the armed forces in forming the future Spanish political scene.

Traditionally, the military has been one of the three main pillars of Franco's power, the others being the Roman Catholic church and the monarchist leaning upper classes.

Suddenly, however, nobody is taking the military for granted and rumors are rampant that the military will emulate Greece and step in as the supreme arbiters of the nation's politics.

THREE MONTHS AGO, rumors alleged ultra-conservative Falange generals were preparing a coup "to liberate Franco from the liberal influences" of the Opus Dei ministers in the cabinet.

A second rumor has since appeared alleging that monarchist generals were planning a coup to return the throne to Don Juan de Borbon y Battenbergi, exiled son of Spain's late King Alfonso XIII.

While neither of these reports is given much credence by well informed sources, the fact that they are being bandied about is a good indication of just how much things have changed in recent months.

The potential of the military gained credence last week when Vice President Adm. Luis Carrero Blanco warned that ultimately it is up to the armed forces to preserve the constitutional order under which Franco now rules.

The comment turned the spotlight on Carrero Blanco, one of the central figures in the new power configurations being forged in the waning years of Franco.

CARRERO BLANCO, for years Franco's right-hand man, has increasingly emerged as the generalissimo's immediate political heir since his appointment to the vice presidency last September.

His role has been commented upon increasingly in Spain, especially since both he and Franco signed the degree last month appointing a new minister of education.

Signature of the decree by both men gave rise to widespread speculation that Carrero Blanco was surplanting Franco.

"This is absurd," said one well-informed government source. "It was normal. But let nobody think that Franco no longer rules. He does and is in good health and all decisions are still made by him."

But political speculation still circulates, with Carrero Blanco and his role as a military man and government leader at its center.

Kuchel Challenges Sierra Club To New Kind Of Conservation

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Whether the Sierra Club will accept the challenge of U. S. Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel to expand its activities to include more conservation work closer to home remains to be seen.

The challenge marks the course of changing times, and earmarks the necessity for such expansion if the laudable work done by the club during the past 75 years in preserving the wilderness is to mean anything 75 or 100 years hence.

"WE NO LONGER live in the kind of world that gave birth to your organization," Senator Kuchel told members of the club recently in Los Angeles.

"There was no smog to obscure the sun. Lakes and rivers had not yet fallen victim to water pollution. The word suburbs was not yet in the dictionary, and the ghettos that stifle life for so many Americans had not attained reality."

Kuchel pointed out the strides that have been made in the preservation of the wilderness, but added:

"The primary task is to open the eyes of America to the other world, the world in which most of life is lived. Make Americans aware of the poverty, the blight, the drab surroundings, and the dismal conformity in which too many live.

"And bring your vision of the wilderness to those who may go through life not realizing that there is a rich and beautiful world outside the confines of our inner cities.

"WE MUST EDUCATE people to question. Americans must ask themselves whether urban blight and gluiness is an essential way of life. Is it really necessary to have smog-filled air? Must our lakes and rivers by clogged with algae and debris? Are jet noise and thermal pollution inescapable facts of life? Must highways and parking lots continue to swallow up our surroundings?

"Conservation should mean fighting for more neighborhood parks. It should mean an end to bad local zoning, and more and better open space legislation. It should mean guarding against threats to the air and water in our cities, and more attention to the aesthetic aspects of housing. An effort must be made to understand what the ever stronger detergents and excessive carbon dioxide emissions are doing to our environment."

Senator Kuchel said the Sierra Club has the vehicle to move into the void without forsaking its basic committment to wilderness preservation.

Kuchel pointed out that both ghetto and park are a part of the world in which we live.

"If conservationists are to cope with the problems of man's environment, both must be treated as part of the same world," he said.

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By ALAN JONES

Of Derby Losers, Moving Day And Unsanitary Richardson Bay

For the first time in 20 years I picked a Derby winner and they disqualified him for taking horse aspirin. It's been that kind of week.

Confusing, too, because the Southern Marin Bureau is still getting used to its new office at 317 Miller Avenue in Mill Valley. The place is high-ceilinged, quiet, carpeted, a great step upward in class. The classified ladies have taken it in stride but it just seems too elegant for a newsroom. It's hard to concentrate on working with poppies and rhododendrons blooming outside the picture windows.

MOVING, of course, involves cleaning out the old desk and moving into a new one. As inheritor of a desk that was home to at least three reporters over the years, I found any number of inexplicable things:

And most of all, a three-foot stack of government literature, budgets, planning reports, policy papers, economic studies, graphs and charts — in short, enough reading material to carry me to retirement if I never did another thing.

Nearly all of it has been dutifully installed in the new desk, and one of these days I may even get a chance to read it.

SOME SAUSALITANS have asked recently about violation of sanitation rules by houseboats along the Waldo shore.

Most of the houseboats are outside the City of Sausalito, and most of them have no sewer hookup. They dump sewage into the bay.

According to one source, the county has been reluctant to stir up a fuss at this point because it is in the midst of negotiations with Kappas Harbor — a major houseboat colony — over land rights and easements for dredging the Saucelito Canal to the projected Mill Valley harbor.

Houseboats can be a beautiful way to live, and it would be Marin's loss if the colorful homes were forced off the waterfront. But the surest way to see to their eventual disappearance would be continuation of the giant cesspool in Richardson Bay.

Only One Safe Choice At Parties This Year: Nobody For President

WASHINGTON — Every presidential election year, we Americans get a chance to test our friendships and relations with people we dearly love. This is especially true in 1968 when so many candidates are running for office.

I'm one of those people who can't stand losing friends and so, when a very attractive lady at a cocktail party the other night said to me, "Who are you for?" I just blushed into my Fresca and said:

"WHAT DO YOU MEAN, hard choice? Don't tell me you're for Kennedy?"

"Who are you for?" I asked, trying to change the subject.

"I'm for Hubert. I have a lot of faith in him."

"Well, I'm certainly not for Kennedy," I said, picking up her cue. "Hubert's a very attractive man."

Another lady joined us. "McCarthy deserves it. He went up to New Hampshire all by himself."

"McCarthy's got a kind face," I said. "He also has a lot of humor."

A third lady came up and said, "Hubert's for Johnson, and I'm against Johnson, so I'm for Bobby."

"Bobby's got a lot going for him," I said to her

"YOU CAN HAVE them all," a Republican friend chimed in. "Nixon's still got the most experience and he can unite the country."

"We need a united country right now," I said, putting some more ice in my glass.

"Never Nixon! He's a loser. The only one who can beat the Democrats is Rocky," a woman I have always admired said.

"You should have a candidate who can beat the Democrats," I told her.

"He's got too many children," she said.

"You can say that again," I told her.

"McCarthy is the most disorganized man in politics," a Kennedy supporter said. "There's more to running this country than a children's crusade. He's not serious about wanting to be president."

"I always suspected that of him," I said.

ONE OF THE PRETTY girls on the left said, "Hubert sold out the liberals. He's now the darling of the South and big business."

"And he's always smiling," I said, hoping to win back some points.

The Nixon supporter said, "Rocky can't even make up his mind whether he wants to run or not, so how can he decide the bigger questions of the day?"

"He's been married twice," I reminded her.

"That may be," said Rocky's friend, "but you still have to ask yourself if you'd buy a used car from Nixon."

"I don't drive, but if I did I wouldn't," I assured her.

"YOU'RE NOT for Harold Stassen?" someone wanted to know.

"Only if they tear all my fingernails out," I assured the questioner.

"Well, it seems to me you must be for somebody," a lady said.

I just smiled sickly. "Does anyone want to see me stand on my head?"

Later, on the way home from the party, my wife let me have it.

"You made a fool of yourself again. Can't you ever go to a party without talking politics?"

Job Outlook Is Bright For College Graduate

The government says a survey shows "exceedingly bright" job prospects awaiting those emerging from campuses across the country this spring. The race for top talent has been on for many months among businesses, industries, academic institutions—and the government itself.

For some, there will be a detour into a khaki uniform.

The survey conducted by the labor department showed that, as usual, engineering and accounting graduates are the most sought after. There also is said to be an exceptionally good job market for health professionals, social workers, librarians, mathematicians, chemists, physicists, and other scientists.

Starting salaries for new graduates continue high, averaging about 5 per cent more than last spring. And the outlook both from the standpoint of job openings and pay has improved for Negro graduates, the study said.

"As graduation nears, never has there been such a strong, three-way pull for American college graduates—from industry, graduate schools and the military draft," the government analysts said. "Expecting a smaller pool of draft-exempt graduates this year, industry is recruiting very actively. More jobs are being offered."

An estimated 820,000 men and women will graduate from American colleges and universities this year, including 150,000 with advanced degrees. This is an increase of about 100,000 graduates over 1967, but some career openings may go unfilled because of a shortage of available graduates.

Those who majored in business administration and liberal arts have a favorable outlook for employment, the government report said. Sales careers in insurance and real estate, and in pharmaceutical and other manufacturing industries, provide many opportunities for these graduates, it added.

Business administration majors also are being sought for management trainee programs, business analysis, production control and marketing.

"Liberal arts graduates are being offered jobs in computer programing, personnel and merchandizing. Increased demand is also reported for liberal arts majors to plan and staff public and private programs dealing with the problems of inner cities and depressed rural areas," the report said.

Not as much encouragement was offered for majors in anthropology, art, drama, English, history, language and philosophy, particularly those not willing to relocate or accept positions outside their major fields of study.

Starting salaries for those with bachelors degrees average up to $775 a month for engineers, $725 a month for accountants, $700 a month for mathematicians, $725 a month for chemists and physicists, $600 a month for biological science graduates and $650 a month for business trainees and salesmen. Salary figures were not given for other professions.

Employment prospects for some other areas included:

Agriculture—Favorable, with best jobs available with the government and with food processing and fertilizer and pesticide manufacturing firms.

Teaching — Excellent, with particular demand for elementary education, special education, industrial arts and college teaching.

Law—Good, especially on legal staffs of large law firms. But those planning to practice independently "must be prepared to face a period of low earnings until they build up their practices."

Journalism — Jobs available with newspapers and periodicals, and in advertising, public relations, radio and television.

Mills Negro Coeds Win No Direct Action On Demands

OAKLAND (AP)—A Mills College spokesman said yesterday efforts were continuing to expand minority programs but there was no official response to a threat by a dozen Negro coeds to disrupt activities at the school for women.

The Black students led by Ruth Johnson, 20, of Dallas, Tex., demanded guarantees for the employment of two Negro professors and a counselor by next fall. Miss Johnson said direct action would be taken before the school closed on June 9 unless demands were met.

Mills president, Dr. Robert J. Wert, said the request could not be filled by September because full time faculty positions for next year have been completed and there is no money for additional posts.

It also was disclosed that an offer made to a Negro sociologisthadbee n turned down.

Dr. Wert said his program included possible exchange of faculty members between Mills and Negro colleges.

He also promised an active search to bring Negro leaders to the Oakland campus for lectures.

Mills will seek more funds for the Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., scholarship program in addition, Wert disclosed plans to raise $50,00 for an endowed chair honoring Dr. King.

Post Office Bid Opening Slated

Competitive bids to build and lease a new Corte Madera main post office at 7 Pixley Avenue are being sought, according to Postmaster Edward J. Victor.

The successful bidder must purchase the property, construct a building to speciafications, then lease it to the Post Office Department for at least 20 years and with option to renew the lease for 30 more years, he said.

The structure will have about 6,400 square feet, with a 480-square-foot platform outside and 11,700 square feet of parking space. Bids must be submitted to the San Francisco real estate office officer for the postal department by 2 p.m. June 5, Victor said.

Petersen Ends Military Career

Col. Tracy J. Petersen, commander of the Western Aerospace Rescue and Recovery Center at Hamilton Air Force Base since Sept. 1, 1966, has retired after 26 years of military service.

A native of Norris, Mont., Petersen took aviation cadet training and was commissioned in 1942. He has served in the Azores, England, Japan and Hawaii. He holds the Distinguished Flying Cross, the Air Medal with four oak leaf clusters, the Air Force commendation medal and the French Croix de Guerre.

Petersen has been replaced by Lt. Col. Wilbur M. Hackett of 206 West Kelly Drive on the base, former deputy commander.
